Democrats here side with Dixon

"Appreciating the position of Secretary of State Alan Dixon as regards individuals recently slated for state office by the Democratic State Central Committee and recognizing Alan Dixon as being the titular leader of the Democratic Party in Illinois, especially in downstate Illinois," County Chairman Nelson Hagauer has just announced that the Madison County Democratic Central Committee... is withholding until further notice its endorsement of any individuals for state office—with the exception of Comptroller Michael Bakalis for governor and Dixon for secretary of state.

Optimist president talks here

Eleven new members were inducted by the Granite City Optimist Club during ceremonies involving the international president of Optimists, Don L. Arwine, Charleston, W. Va., at the Thursday luncheon meeting of the club in the YMCA.

The new class will total 16 when five others accepted for membership have been sworn in. Not only was the international president at the induction ceremony, but also the international executive secretary, Hugh Crawford of St. Louis, District Governor S. Harold Roberts of Alton and three Optimist vice-presidents, William Scott of Jeffersonville, Ind., Noel Fadiga of Pensacola, (Continued on Page 4)

Wounded in eyes by sawed-off shotgun

Charles Spink, 19, of 2037 Illinois Ave., was charged with two counts of attempted murder and one count of aggravated battery after he allegedly fired a shotgun through a window and into a house at 1302 Twenty-third St. at 8:25 p.m. Thursday. Shotgun pellets struck a 25-year-old man in the face. Authorities said the victim, Paul Saboff, sustained injuries to both eyes and apparently is blinded. One eye was removed, doctors indicated. He was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for the eye injuries and puncture wounds over his entire face and was transferred to Barnes Hospital where he underwent surgery Friday. His condition is stable and today was satisfactory.

A sawed-off shotgun was used in the shooting, authorities said. One of the attempted murder counts alleges that Spink fired the shot "with intent to kill" and the other alleges the shot was fired "with intent to do great bodily harm." Police were called to the home of Cheryl Whitford, 22, of 1302 Twenty-third, on a report of a shooting and found Saboff in the living room, lying on the floor, with blood on his face and the floor. A young man and a woman said they were in another room when they heard a shot and came out to find Saboff bleeding.

Cheryl Whitford said she and Saboff were in the living room when Saboff got off the couch and walked toward the stereo. She said she asked him what was wrong and Saboff said, "Be quiet." Saboff then turned down the volume of the stereo, which is against a window, and a blast ripped through the window. Saboff told officers he thought he heard a noise outside and was turning down the stereo to listen when he was shot through the window. Police noted there had been a disturbance at that address at 7:45 p.m. Thursday when Spink and Bob Stone, 3137 Maryville Road, went there to speak to Spink's wife, Tina Spink. Mrs. Spink told police then (Continued on Page 3)

Statewide energy use plan

Illinois Governor James R. Thompson unveiled an "energy contingency plan" during his address at the 63rd annual meeting of the Illinois Farm Bureau Friday night. Recalling the severe winter of 1976-77, Gov. Thompson said he doesn't want the state to be caught this winter without a plan if energy should run short. He called his plan a "graduated response" to differing degrees of shortages of natural gas and energy. Speaking in St. Louis, he said his staff is monitoring now such things as the state's supply of gas and other energy and the use of these resources. That is Phase 1 of the plan. The governor outlined how the plan would work—using natural gas—that's mostly gas to commercial users who can use alternative fuels—then we go into Phase 2. "Phase 2 means we declare a statewide energy watch, we alert the federal energy emergency center and we develop plans to implement the responses we've already laid out," the governor related. "If the shortage worsens to a six to 10 percent shortfall in natural gas, that's Phase 3A and that's where the state must begin to really react. In a Phase 3A situation, we declare a statewide energy emergency and begin implementing conservation measures." Thompson said that some of the options to consider under this phase would include the following: —Reduce hours of operation of commercial stores using natural gas. —Request a statewide reduction in residential and commercial thermostat settings to between 68 and 70 degrees. —Request reduction for residential and commercial gas water heaters to 120 degrees except in cases such as public heating facilities where extremely hot water is necessary for sanitation. —Curtail boiler fuel gas for (Continued on Page 3)

Concern over farm energy

What would you do if you needed water to feed your cattle and nothing came out of the faucet? Or what if you needed electricity to dry your corn or soybeans and there wasn't any? These are realistic possibilities, according to speakers at the Illinois Farm Bureau's governmental affairs conference Thursday. The conference, dealing with energy and water resources, was part of the farm organization's annual meeting Wednesday through Saturday in St. Louis.

Edward S. Lipinsky from Battelle-Columbus Laboratories in Columbus, Ohio, talked about non-fossil energy sources for farm use. He narrowed the field of alternatives, which includes solar and geothermal, to wind and "biomass" for Illinois farmers. Those two are the most practical for the weather conditions in the state, he asserted. Of the two, biomass holds the most promise, he said. Biomass means converting crops grown on the farm to some form of energy. Forms of biomass energy include gasohol, combustion (Continued on Page 3)

New town hall to be occupied

The new Granite City Township hall and senior citizen center will be occupied within the next two weeks and will be dedicated in ribbon-cutting ceremonies Dec. 18. It was announced today by Nelson Hagauer, supervisor of Granite City Township. First to occupy the new building will be the township administration offices which will be moved into the new building Saturday afternoon. Present plans call for the senior citizens facilities at 1920 Edison Ave. to be moved into the new township building on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 12 and 13, and the offices of Special Education of the Granite City School District to move into new offices there on Dec. 15. (Continued on Page 3)

Johnson appointed to Madison board

Elver P. "Billy" Johnson, 716 Jackson St., Madison, was appointed to the Madison School Board at a regular meeting Thursday evening held in the board office on Fourth Street. A vacancy on the board was created Thursday when Board President Frank Eaves received a letter of resignation from Donald Boyer, who is moving from Madison. Eaves said, "I regret Don's resignation, as I think he has made a real contribution to our district and our community. I will entertain a motion to accept the resignation with regret and to write Don a letter of appreciation for his service." Johnson, a past board member, was originally ap-

Decentralize children-family services agency

A plan for sweeping reorganization of the state Department of Children and Family Services was made public Friday by Margaret M. Kennedy, DCFS director.

The plan was unveiled in a memorandum Miss Kennedy issued to all employees. A proposed new organizational chart accompanied the memo. Miss Kennedy said her reorganization plan has four objectives:

1. To shift much of the responsibility for line management of services from the central office to a regional level.
2. To give regional administration control of, or significant roles in, certain functions — contracting, business management, planning, guardianship, and child development (day care) — currently performed at either the central or area level.
3. To encourage specialization in program areas by staff members in both the regional offices and the Division of Technical Assistance and Monitoring. This is intended to reduce overlap and duplication of roles, and clarify distinctions between staff functions and line administrative responsibility.
4. To achieve greater coordination of central office staff services by reducing the number of individuals or units reporting to the director.

The new DCFS structure will eliminate the present division of administrative responsibility among four deputy directors. It also will mean melding of the existing 18 DCFS area offices into eight regional offices.

Miss Kennedy said the regional offices will have greater authority and responsibility than such offices have ever held in the DCFS operation. The offices will be staffed by specialists who will have a single counterpart in the department's central operation.

The director pledged to carry out the reorganization in a "thoughtful and humane fashion."

"My goal is not to eliminate jobs or people. Rather, it is to improve the quality of the services we render the citizens of Illinois," Miss Kennedy asserted.

She said the reorganization should be fully implemented by July 1, 1978. Firm decisions have not yet been made on locations of the regional office sites, although regional boundaries have been established.

DCFS employees who have worked capably and energetically for the department and its clients have nothing to fear from the changes that lie ahead," Miss Kennedy asserted.

Continued economic expansion in 1978

The current economic expansion will continue well into its fourth year in 1978. Although real growth will slow toward year-end, there are no signs of a recession during 1978, according to the Prudential Insurance Company's annual economic forecast.

The Prudential prognosis cites business's enduring caution and periodic quick adjustments to inventory excesses as reasons why this surge in the economy, under way since March 1975, should go beyond the historic three-year average duration.

Prepared by Dr. J. Robert Ferrari, Prudential's vice president and chief economist, and Dr. James L. Essig, director of economic investment and research, the forecast pegs the 1978 total Gross National Product at $2,086,000,000, an increase of $198 billion over this year's figure of $1.8 trillion.

Prudential predicts average real growth of four percent next year, a drop from the 1977 real growth of 4.5 percent but "a respectable achievement at this stage of the business expansion."

A recession, which often has followed such a lengthy economic upswing, is ruled out because "the excesses and imbalances which in the past have signaled the approach of a cumulating downward adjustment are simply not present."

The forecast team sees a somewhat brighter unemployment picture, with the jobless rate lessening gradually and leveling off at 6 1/2 percent later in the year.

Inflation is estimated at 6 1/2 percent.

Mrs. Perry, 74, dies

Mrs. Elsona Perry (Nyers), 74, of Rural Route Two, Collinsville, a native of Granite City, died at 1:45 p.m. Friday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Mrs. Perry was born and reared in Granite City and resided here until 1946 when the family moved to Collinsville. She was an active member of Holy Cross Lutheran Church in Collinsville and a member of the church's Ladies Aid Society.

Mrs. Perry also was a member of the Oliver C. Anderson Hospital Auxiliary.

She is survived by her husband, Eugene Mathew Perry; two sons, Waldo Grigori of Charleston, Ill., and Robert Eugene Perry of Collinsville; a brother Joseph B. Nyers of Granite City; a sister, Mrs. Mary Andorf of St. Louis; and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services are scheduled at 2 p.m. today at Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 304 South St., Collinsville. Details are given in the obituary column.

Mrs. Mathilda Droege dies

Mrs. Mathilda J. Droege, 85, of 2833 Lee Ave., a local resident for 64 years, died at 3:50 a.m. Saturday at Lutheran Albrecht Nursing Home in St. Louis.

She had lived at the nursing home for the past two years and was ill for about one month.

Mrs. Droege was born in St. Louis. She was a member of Concordia Lutheran Church and the Ladies Aid Society.

Her husband, Herman Droege, died June 22, 1970, and a daughter, Miss Hermoine Droege, died April 26, 1975.

The only surviving relative is a sister-in-law, Mrs. William (Louise) Mack of Collinsville. Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Mrs. Inez Shelton dies

Mrs. Inez V. Shelton, 66, of 1232 Klein St., Venice, was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 11:55 p.m. Friday.

She had been ill six weeks and was taken to the hospital by ambulance from home when her condition worsened.

Mrs. Shelton lived in Venice 63 years. She was a native of Carmi, Ill.

Prior to retiring in 1965, she was employed in the sales department at Vandervort Department Store, St. Louis.

Mrs. Shelton was a member of the First Baptist Church of Venice.

Surviving are her husband, Alice Shelton, a daughter, Miss Jane Shelton of Venice; and a sister, Mrs. Cleo (Audrey) Bain of Scott City, Mo.

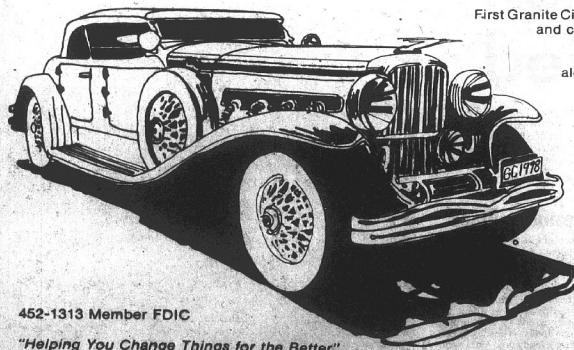

Driver hurt

Miss Mona Callis, 18, of 3136 Harvard Place, was injured in a collision at 9 p.m. Sunday on Narmook Road at Clark Avenue, when the vehicle she was driving was struck by a motorcycle, operated by Timothy P. Murphy of St. Louis. Both cars were southbound.

Miss Callis suffered a nosebleed when her head struck the steering wheel. She had x-rays taken at St. Elizabeth and was treated and released.

More pesticides to be restricted

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency may soon add 18 or more pesticides to the restricted use pesticide list, it was noted here today.

Five of the 18 pesticides are soil insecticides used by Illinois farmers on corn rootworm control. The five are Furafuran, Mocap, Dyfonate, Thimet and Counter.

Two herbicides, Diquat and Dibromide and Endothal, also are on the list. One nematicide, Nemacur, one molluscicide, bayluscide, and one animal control pesticide, Gophacide, complete the list.

With EPA approval of this list, 41 pesticides will be restricted.

According to federal law, farmers buying and handling restricted use pesticides must be certified. To be certified, farmers can attend training sessions held in the county. Two sessions were held here Nov. 28.

Those who missed the certification program but want to be certified may call the Agricultural Extension office and have their name placed on a waiting list. If there is enough response, another program may be scheduled in the county in the late spring.

The event took place Sunday from 3:30 p.m. until 5:30 p.m. with 150 persons in attendance. The five persons were honored for their volunteer work in community sports programs and with youth in general.

Carl Marx served as master of ceremonies and the Rev. John Ratcliff gave the invocation.

The people attending were entertained with a solo by Tyrone Matzy, and magic by Rev. Ratcliff.

The guest speaker was Miss Fannie Jones of East St. Louis, an educator and civic leader. A film "This Far by Faith" was shown.

Remarks were made by John Henry Williams, president of the Madison Branch of the NAACP, who explained that the group was dedicated to ending racial discrimination in housing, employment, education and state and local agencies.

Williams stressed the local NAACP chapter could do more, if more people took more interest.

A special guest was Charles H. Lawson III, president of the East St. Louis NAACP branch and vice-president of the Illinois NAACP.

and anaerobic digestion. The main problem with biomass at this point, he said, is how to harness it.

He went into more detail with gasoline, the blending of alcohol and gasoline.

The position of researchers at Battelle is that gasoline is a viable energy source, but it needs a lot of study because at this point it isn't economical, according to their studies.

E. R. Phelps, president of Peabody Coal in St. Louis, talked about the future of fossil fuels, such as gas, oil and coal. He stressed that the United States is facing a serious energy problem, saying that to solve that problem, the nation must develop all sources of energy.

Present resources, he said, include enough known gas to last about 11.4 years. There is enough known oil to last about 11.3 years, he added.

"Our present rate of consumption will have enough coal reserves to last more than 300 years," Phelps said.

"Every extra million tons of coal we produce in this country is, on the average, the energy equivalent of four million barrels of imported oil," Phelps said. "That is oil that can be freed to be used in agriculture."

John B. Stall of the Illinois State Water Survey said Illinois is rich in water resources.

"There are areas in the state, however," he said, "where the water table is low and may cause future problems, specifically in Northeastern Illinois."

Illinois law pertaining to water rights was discussed by Professor Roger W. Findley of the University of Illinois College of Law.

He explained two bills pending in the state legislature which would establish a statewide permit system for commercial use of water supplies. One bill exempts present agriculture operations, excluding irrigation systems.

Joe Krivak of the federal Environmental Protection Agency emphasized the government's commitment to carrying out an effective nonpoint source pollution control program, which he said will involve agriculture significantly.

"Congress has passed the law to clean up our waters, and now the tough part is making decisions on the kind of progress needed to accomplish the job," Krivak said.

"Many of the major policy decisions must be made at the local level because it is out there on the ground where the management takes effect and the results can be seen."

CAR HITS TREE
Dennis Kent, 26, Glen Carbon, was transferred to Purnell Desloge Hospital after being treated at 7:50 p.m. Sunday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. He suffered multiple cuts to the forehead, a cut to the right eyelid, neck pains and a possible back injury. He was heading south on Breckenridge Lane, lost control of his auto and struck a tree at 4632 Breckenridge Lane at 7:15 p.m., police reported.

Mrs. Crotty dies here
Mrs. Mae M. Crotty, 75, of 14th Street and Madison Avenue, died at 6:10 a.m. Sunday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

She is survived by a brother residing in Missouri, according to a friend.

Funeral arrangements are pending at a Granite City funeral home.

Hearing tonight

A public hearing termed as important to the future of Mass transportation in the St. Louis metropolitan area will be conducted at 7:30 tonight in the City Council chambers on the third floor of the City Hall in Granite City.

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council is offering various alternatives for improving mass transit throughout the area, including improved service to Madison and St. Clair counties in Illinois.

Systems include expanded bus service, passenger rail service, express freeway bus routes and park-and-ride parking lots. Suggestions from the audience will be accepted and made part of the minutes.

The local hearing is one of four the Gateway Council is conducting early this month in Madison and St. Clair counties.

Among alternatives under study to improve service to the Quad-City area are:

—Express freeway bus routes in Granite City, Collinsville, Belleville, Fairview Heights, East St. Louis and Alton. The routes would travel major highway networks in providing express bus service to many employment areas.

—Park-and-ride lots, which provide the opportunity for commuters to drive short distances to a specially-designed facility before boarding transit systems for travel to employment centers. Facilities would be provided at Alton, Madison, Granite City, East St. Louis, Fairview Heights and Collinsville.

—A rail line starting at Broadway Street in Alton and traveling parallel to I-270 to Madison Avenue in Granite City before ending downtown St. Louis.

According to the emergency energy plan, the next step — if the crisis does not abate — would be Phase 3, which would include evacuation of residents from homes which had incurred a total curtailment of natural gas, and the request to have the federal government declare Illinois a disaster area.

"The same kind of step-by-step game plan has been developed for shortages of electricity, gasoline and the middle distillates," Gov. Thompson said.

"These are tough measures, but last winter was a tough winter. We not only were caught with our pants down, we weren't even wearing thermal underwear."

"Farmers, in particular, were hit by last year's shortage. Farming is an energy dependent business. For this reason, Illinois Director of Agriculture John Block plays an important role in the energy plan."

"If a crisis becomes serious enough to require statewide action, the Department of Agriculture will be a part of the decision-making process, making sure the governor and other state agencies understand the impact of various policies on agriculture production."

FACES GUN CHARGE
Dennis L. Horton, 27, of 2512 Northridge, was charged with unlawful use of a weapon after a disturbance at Stieb's Tavern, 222 Namecki Road, during which a shot was fired from a pistol. There were no injuries.

Wet road blamed for 3-car crash
Wet pavement was blamed for a three-car collision on Namecki at Johnson roads at 8:50 p.m. Sunday, involving the southbound vehicles of John A. Bonvicino, 2725 Dale Ave., Bryan Matzenbacher, St. Louis, and William D. Durant, 1008 Madison Ave., Madison.

Bonvicino, 55, was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for pain in the neck area and released. Mrs. Evelyn Durant of the 1009 Madison Ave. address, a passenger in the Durant auto, also sustained an injury.

customers using 300 terms or more an hour.

—Curtail remaining non-residential users in various steps.

Thompson said that if these measures are not enough, and a statewide natural gas shortage reaches 11 percent, then "we would go into Phase 3B."

Measures that would be considered under this phase would include:

—Mandatory reduction of commercial stove operations to a few hours per day, and of commercial thermostat settings to between 64 and 68 degrees.

—Mandatory reduction of commercial space heater thermostats to 110 degrees.

—The lifting of requirements on use of pollution control equipment by industry.

According to the emergency energy plan, the next step — if the crisis does not abate — would be Phase 3, which would include evacuation of residents from homes which had incurred a total curtailment of natural gas, and the request to have the federal government declare Illinois a disaster area.

"The same kind of step-by-step game plan has been developed for shortages of electricity, gasoline and the middle distillates," Gov. Thompson said.

"These are tough measures, but last winter was a tough winter. We not only were caught with our pants down, we weren't even wearing thermal underwear."

"Farmers, in particular, were hit by last year's shortage. Farming is an energy dependent business. For this reason, Illinois Director of Agriculture John Block plays an important role in the energy plan."

"If a crisis becomes serious enough to require statewide action, the Department of Agriculture will be a part of the decision-making process, making sure the governor and other state agencies understand the impact of various policies on agriculture production."

Car hits pole, 4 people hurt
In an accident at 11:30 p.m. yesterday, four people were injured and were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Martin Reeves, 19, of Sesser, Ill., said he attempted to avoid striking another car which pulled out of August Street onto East 23rd Street and swerved his auto, hitting a utility pole at the side of the road.

Reeves, who was traveling east on East 23rd, lapsed into unconsciousness enroute to the hospital and was admitted for observation.

Paul R. Woodruff, 19, of 2429 E. 23rd St., a passenger, also was admitted with a head injury and suffered abrasions to the forehead and left wrist and pain in the left knee.

Two other passengers, Joyce B. Hayden, 18, of 1002 (rear) Iowa St., Madison, was injured, and Daniel G. Hayden, 19, of the Iowa Street address, also went by ambulance to the hospital.

Hagauer said the dedication ceremony will be held at 1 p.m. Dec. 18 with a program that will include an address by Cong. Melvin Price (D-23rd District), and remarks by Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler and State Sen. Sam Vadalabene.

The ceremonies will be open to the public and will include presentations by the North High School Band.

Mayor Schuler will give the dedication talk.

Cong. Price is to present a flag that has flown over the capitol to the Daughters of the American Revolution during the ceremony.

Senator Vadalabene will present an Illinois state flag to Hagauer. Schuler will present a city flag to Hagauer.

The $650,000 township building was completed last week except for cleaning and will be ready for occupancy by the end of this week, Hagauer said.

Her husband died April 14, 1964. She also was preceded in death by a daughter, Mrs. Mary Margaret Newman and two sons, Louis and John Plebanek.

Survivors include five sons, Joseph W., Steve and Ignatius Plebanek, all of Granite City, and Frank and Paul Plebanek, both of Edwardsville; eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Wet road blamed for 3-car crash
Wet pavement was blamed for a three-car collision on Namecki at Johnson roads at 8:50 p.m. Sunday, involving the southbound vehicles of John A. Bonvicino, 2725 Dale Ave., Bryan Matzenbacher, St. Louis, and William D. Durant, 1008 Madison Ave., Madison.

Bonvicino, 55, was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for pain in the neck area and released. Mrs. Evelyn Durant of the 1009 Madison Ave. address, a passenger in the Durant auto, also sustained an injury.

witnesses were questioned by detectives for several hours. At 1:25 a.m. Friday, the boy was released on orders of city juvenile authorities.

At 2:35 a.m., Spink accompanied three detectives to his home and officers took a shotgun which was in the home, it was reported.

The shooting, however, occurred before the night shift came on duty.

After the shooting, police went to Spink's home and saw a car parked nearby which appeared to match the description of one that was seen leaving the parking scene at high speed.

As police drove into the parking area, it was alleged the motorist attempted to back up but was blocked in by the squad car.

The driver was taken into custody for questioning at 8:40 p.m. Thursday. During that arrest, a 16-year-old boy came out of a second-floor hallway and officers saw him and ordered him to come down with his hands on his head. He complied and was taken to the police station.

The two were questioned and officers continued to search for Spink.

At 9:15 p.m. Thursday, officers saw a man in front of his home and a Venice policeman in the area said the man ran to an alley between Missouri and Illinois avenues and south in the alley.

Officers gave chase and caught Spink in a yard across from his apartment.

Who's Who in Music listings

The 1977 edition of Who's Who in Music will carry the names of two students from Granite City High School North who have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding high school music students.

Gail E. Mueller, choral director, head of the school's nominating committee, and the editors of the annual directory included the names of these students based on their music ability, academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

Students named this year from North are Andrew Barling, 200 Sunnyslores, and Joan Fabisher, 2371 Pontoon Road.

Both are in the advanced mixed chorus and in Madrigals.

Some interpret the move as an indication that Sheriff John Maers won't seek re-election. After initially saying some kind words but voicing a bit of concern over the statewide slide chosen by party leaders, Secretary of State Dixon formally disassociated himself from the ticket Thursday evening.

The Belleville Democrat, a veteran officeholder still in his 40s, stressed that he will support in November 1978 all who are nominated by Democratic voters.
But, other than Bakalis, Dixon declines now to take a stand in the expected primary competition.
There has been growing concern among some Democrats that the state is too heavily oriented to the Cook County area, although Dixon has pointed out that the likely Republican nominees also are primarily from Cook County.
Dixon, Sen. Adlai Stevenson and others indicate they are unsympathetic to the candidacy of two Metropolitan Sanitary District officials, Jerome Cosentino for state treasurer and Richard Troy for attorney general.

of State Dixon's semi-independent stand regarding the statewide Democratic primary came amidst a continuing flurry of political developments and rumors at the county level.

A weekend occurrence here was the circulation of petitions on behalf of Donald Vaughn, a local druggist for the office of sheriff of Madison County in the March 1978 Democratic primary election.

Vaughn was out-of-town today but friends verified that the petitions are going around at the county level.

Optimist

Fla. and Kenneth Kile of Clinton, Tenn.

Why so many? As Arwine explained, the board of directors of Optimist International was meeting last week in St. Louis and accepted an invitation to visit the Granite City club.

Inducted as new members were Bill Atkins, Mike Collins, Paul Crake, Art Griffin, Tully Huebner, Jack Lee, Bob Maxey, A.A. "Bud" MacMillan, Nick Petrillo, Duane Skinner and Dick Buegner.

Accepted as new members but unable to attend the installation ceremony were Earl Buegner, Jeff Graville, Bill Kaseberg, Kent Thompson and Gilbert Walmale. Their induction will conclude a month-long membership drive.

The ceremony was conducted by Roberts, who administered the Optimist pledge to the 11 new members.

Art Roseman, a charter member of the 48-year-old Granite City club, briefed the new members on the club's history and activities.

Ted Ellerman, a club member, introduced the international president, noting that Arwine was Ellerman's preceptor 10 years ago at the University of Colorado Medical Center.

He said Arwine is president of the West Virginia Medical Association and is the administrator of the hospital group in that state.

Arwine said the goal this year is to remind all clubs that Optimists are "Friends of Youth," and to urge that all club programs be aimed directly toward that goal.

To the new members, he said, "You may have just taken one of the most important steps in your lives. I say 'may have' because it depends on how much you put into it."

"Optimism presents five important opportunities to its members. One is fellowship. Studies have shown that fellowship is a necessity of life," Arwine said.

"Second is service. Every good man has a desire to impart what is good in him to others through service. Optimism gives the opportunity to be of service to others," he noted.

Third, he cited self-improvement as an opportunity

Optimist clubs give. He said the philosophy and Optimist Creed are useful in self-improvement. Weekly speakers with information on a wide range of topics also aid individual improvement, the club was told.

Working with others in committees and working in an elected Optimist office also help build personalities, he said, adding, "You get the opportunity to work together with men, none of whom have the opportunity to hire or fire each other," he said.

Optimism provides it to "positively influence someone else," according to Arwine. "The next best thing after positively influencing yourself is positively influencing someone else. This can be done by aiding your fellow Optimist and bringing new people into the Optimist clubs or through club service activities."

"You also have the opportunity to influence youth, which is our major focus," Arwine concluded.

After the talk, Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, a special guest at the meeting, gave a gold "key to the city" to Arwine, saying, "We hope this key will help you remember your visit to Granite City and make you feel welcome at any time."

Club President Alan Walker, presented Arwine with a stone engraving of Abraham Lincoln's portrait.

It was announced that on Thursday, Dec. 8, the club will honor the Granite City High School South soccer team on its state championship, this fall.

About 30 team members will be guests.

Career days at schools
Career Awareness Day at Granite City High School will be held Thursday at North and Tuesday, Dec. 13, at South.

Among the careers the students may look into are accounting, cosmetology, art, barbering, civil service careers, computer programming, construction, cosmetology, dentist, pharmacy, insurance broker, law, hotel management, journalism, photography, law enforcement, military, music, recreation, tourism and travel.

Dimitri Evanoff, 74, dies
Mr. Evanoff was a self-employed shoemaker before he retired.

He was a member of Holy Trinity Bulgarian Orthodox Church.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Agatha (Banach) Evanoff; two sons, Dimitri Jr. and George Evanoff both of St. Louis; two daughters, Mrs. Beatrice Jernegan of Midwest City, Okla., and Mrs. Jean Finn of St. Louis; and nine grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Foreign student adviser appointed

The appointment of Mary Elizabeth Long as foreign student adviser at SIUE has been announced by Dr. C. Scully Stikes, vice-president for student affairs. The appointment is subject to confirmation by the SIU Board of Trustees.

She comes to SIUE from Washington University, where she served as foreign student adviser. She received her bachelor of arts degree from the University of Kansas and her master of social work degree from the University of Chicago, and has had extensive experience in the foreign student field.

The duties include being directly responsible for all immigration procedures required of international students, financial clearance of foreign student applications, and cultural and non-academic advising of foreign students. She works in cooperation with the community International Hospitality Program, the International Student Union, and international campus programming.

Book returns

Before students attending classes at SIUE get too involved with Christmas holiday preparations, they are being reminded it's time to return their textbooks. The extended-hour schedule for fall quarter book returns on the campus will begin Monday, Dec. 12.

The extended-hour schedule will be: Dec. 12, 13, 14 and 15 from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m.; Dec. 16 from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.; and Dec. 17 from 8 a.m. until noon.

On Monday, Dec. 19, the hours of operation will be from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., with the deadline for returning books occurring at 5 p.m. that day. Students returning books after that time will be charged a penalty fee.

Dates for winter quarter issues will be announced later. Winter quarter classes will begin Jan. 3 at 4:30 p.m.

ARREST ON WARRANT
Sharon Keeler, 40, of 2818 Madison Ave., was arrested at 4:40 p.m. Thursday on a warrant from Christian County, Ill., alleging deceptive practice. She was released at 5:30 p.m. Thursday on $100 bond pending an appearance in Christian County.

ONE . . . TWO . . . THREE! Four families gather around a parachute to join in tossing it in the air. The families are together as part of a Family Environmental Education workshop offered by the SIUE School of Education. The course is designed for elementary school teachers who wish to keep up with the latest in education. For four weekends, students and their families participate in activities which include handicraft from natural materials, a study of winter ecology in the Mississippi Palisades State Park exploration of plant and animal life, and a study of Abraham Lincoln at the Lincoln Log Cabin State Park.

Family environment education workshop

Getting the whole family involved in "mom's or dad's" college course is considered one way to knit the family closer together. The School of Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is offering such a course.

Designed primarily for elementary teachers who wish to keep up with the latest in education, the workshop is doing far more than opening the eyes of the educator in the field. Everybody gets into the act, from grandfather on down to the baby.

"It's a family-sharing experience packaged in a college course," Robert Williams, assistant professor of education at SIUE, said. All of the classes meet on the weekend format. The first weekend was spent at Pere Marquette State Park, near Grafton. Emphasizing last year's bicentennial theme, activities centered around crafts practiced by early Americans of the area.

Students and their families were introduced to the art of dying and spinning wool, making corn husk dolls, weaving baskets, and candle dipping. The weekend began with a forage for native materials which would produce natural dyes. With the help of the children, they gathered pokeberries for purple hues, walnut hulls for brown tones, and hedge apple roots for yellow dyes.

To produce a different shade of yellow, marigold petals were picked. "We took clay from an abandoned home site and made a primitive drop spindle," Williams said. The drop spindle was used as a spinning wheel. After the dyes were extracted from the materials, wood fibers were dyed and hung up to dry. Then they were spun into a course yarn. From the yarn, students designed simple articles.

"Some of them made 'God's eyes,' a Hopi Indian charm, while others constructed hanging baskets.

At a farm site, they also collected three different varieties of mint, including peppermint, catnip and spearmint. The mints were also hung up to dry so they might be taken home and later used for flavoring foods.

At night, ghost stories floated around the campfire. Marshmallows, along with chilly toes, were toasted in the dying embers.

"Everybody either brought along their room and board or they commuted from home," Williams related.

Four families are driving all the way from the northern part of the state to participate in the class; two families come from Missouri, and the rest are from the local area.

The second weekend will be spent in the Mississippi Palisades State Park near Savanna during February. The instructor is hopeful there will be snow.

Post bar open pending hearing

Mayor William Ebersold of Venice allowed Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 bar to reopen Thursday afternoon after it was closed when police alleged finding gambling on "slot-machine-type" cards the previous evening.

A hearing that could affect the Legion's liquor license will be conducted by the mayor in his capacity as liquor commissioner on Wednesday, Dec. 14.

Varied courses on water and treatment

A series of continuing education courses for managers, superintendents and operators of potable water supply and wastewater treatment facilities will be offered during the winter quarter at the SIUE Environmental Resources Training Center.

Students who successfully complete the training programs are awarded continuing education units (CEU) and receive educational credit applicable to certification programs administered by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

The ERTC is designated by the Illinois EPA as the state center for training of personnel involved in water supply and wastewater treatment facility operation, maintenance and management.

It occupies new facilities on the SIUE campus and is specifically designed, equipped and staffed to provide environmental pollution control facility personnel training on the most current technologies and procedures for treating both potable water and wastewater effluents.

The seven courses to be offered at the ERTC this winter are:

Principles of Wastewater Operations, course teaching wastewater terminology, functions and purposes of process units and equipment. Normal procedures for inspection operation and maintenance of common wastewater treatment equipment are also covered. The class will begin Jan. 3 and meet for 11 weeks on Tuesdays from 5:30 to 8:20 p.m. for 11 weeks. The first class is scheduled Jan. 4.

Wastewater Process Control Laboratory I teaches proper use of wastewater laboratory equipment. The class will meet Wednesdays from 5:30 to 8:20 p.m. for 11 weeks. The first class is scheduled Jan. 4.

UNDERCOATING—RALPH'S TEXACO 22ND & MADISON AVE.

Principles of Water Supply Operations I covers rules and regulations affecting water supply operations, ground and surface water characteristics, well codes and regulations, intake structures and lift stations, disinfection and record keeping. The class will meet Mondays from 5:30 to 8:20 p.m. for 11 weeks. The first class meets Jan. 9.

Water Supply Process Control Laboratory I teaches proper use of water supply laboratory equipment. The class meets Wednesdays from 5:30 to 8:20 p.m. for 11 weeks. The first class is scheduled Jan. 4.

ERTC training programs stress understanding of basic principles and emphasize application of these principles through a combination of lectures, laboratory and inplant sessions.

For additional information on tuition, credits awarded for these courses or other courses offered throughout the year by the ERTC, Quad-Cityans may write to the Training Coordinator, ERTC, Campus Box 75, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville 62026 or call 692-2030.

Career Awareness Day at GC high schools

Granite City High School North and South and the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club will sponsor a Career Awareness Day for students at both schools who are interested in obtaining first-hand information on various career fields.

In an effort to reach a larger number of students, the program has been expanded this year and will be available to students during the lunch hours on Thursday, Dec. 8, at North High and on Tuesday, Dec. 13, at South High School.

Career Awareness Day will provide practical information for students on a person-to-person level, it was explained.

Local business people from various career fields will be on hand to outline career information, educational qualifications and to answer questions from students in small discussion groups.

Guidance counselors at both North and South schools will be the direction of Roy McConkey, Career Vocational Placement counselor for Granite City high schools, have worked with the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Young Careerist Committee to organize the program, BPW officers said.

Thursdays program at Granite City North will take place in the library during the lunch hour period, starting at 10 a.m. and continuing until 1:30 p.m., under the direction of Mrs. June Mills.

The Dec. 13 program at South High will be held between the same hours in Room 138, supervised by Mrs. LaVerna Corbett.

Mrs. Maxine Mullins, Young Careerist chairman for the Illinois State Federation of Business and Professional Women, and Mrs. Lorene Sadrakula, local BPW president, will attend one of the two sessions, it was announced.

Students are being encouraged to secure further information about the career program from the guidance office at each high school or by calling Miss Linda Wetton, Young Careerist Committee chairman, at 877-3438 after 6 p.m.

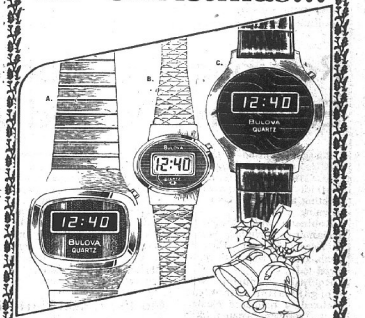

PRE-SCHOOL SPEAKER
Joe Wayman, a former teacher and nationally-recognized consultant, addressed a parents meeting at the Title I Pre-School, 2925 Logan Ave., Tuesday night. He spoke on "Creating Expression in Young Children."

New town hall in Granite City ready to be placed in use

Granite City's Town Hall, to be occupied starting this weekend, is an unusually attractive structure that seems likely to be a major asset to the central business district. Located at 21st Street and Delmar Avenue, it is about one block from its sister facility, the City Hall.

Moving plans include Saturday and Sunday for township general assistance offices, next Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 12-13, for senior citizen activities and Dec. 15 for the Quad-City special education regional headquarters.

The moves are expected to aid taxpayers by reducing rental costs.

State agency finds dramatic improvement in water quality

Illinois Environmental Protection Agency — A dramatic improvement in the quality of Illinois waters during the past three years indicates that dischargers' compliance with pollution abatement requirements is starting to benefit fishermen.

The frequency of lead pollution violations in the Ohio River and its tributaries, for example, has decreased 96 percent, and the frequency of dissolved oxygen pollution has decreased 70 percent in the Mississippi River from Rock Island to St. Louis.

Significant proof of these and other violation reductions was experienced during last year's drought.

It was expected that there would be more quality violations, due to the resulting reduced capacity of the streams to dilute the waste load. However, this expectation was not supported by field observations made on streams.

The Illinois EPA presently maintains a water quality stream network of 550 stations, exclusive of Lake Michigan. Samples of these stations are obtained quarterly to monthly, and are analyzed for 40 parameters. This type of network provides information on long-term quality trends.

Another water quality improvement has been shown in levels of fecal coliform, indicators of human and animal waste contamination. During 1975, 75 percent of the samples collected in the Wabash River and its tributaries exceeded the general use standard, but during 1976 there was only a 58 percent violation incidence.

Similarly, the frequency of violations in the Little Wabash River and its tributaries dipped to 37 percent in 1976 from a high of 70 percent in 1974.

Violations in the Fox River and its tributaries totaled 25 percent during 1976, compared to 50 percent from 1973-75. In the Rock River, 44 percent of the samples were in violation during 1976, down from 60 percent during 1973-75.

Considerable drops in the levels of ammonia and mercury, both highly toxic pollutants, shown from tests run for the Ohio River and its tributaries, the Mississippi River from the Kaskaskia River to where it meets the Ohio River, the north central part of the Mississippi from Rock Island to St. Louis, the Big Muddy, Illinois, Sangamon and Des Plaines Rivers, and the southern part of the Mississippi River and its tributaries.

Only ten percent of the state's waters could be considered of highest quality during 1972-74, but more than 50 percent have qualified for that category since 1975.

Based on a water quality index of four categories showing the good relationship between chemical data and biological quality, only 50 percent of the state's waters were represented in the top two categories during 1972-74, but 90 percent of the state's waters have been in those categories since 1975.

This improving situation means that cleaner water will provide a better habitat for aquatic life, including fish, and aesthetically-better water-based recreation such as swimming, canoeing, water skiing and hiking.

Despite these improvements in water quality, there is little indication that the sediment load in Illinois rivers is decreasing.

Activities such as new waste treatment plants going into operation, communities changing from septic tanks to central treatment systems, and agriculture, mining and industry achieving their compliance schedules with state and federal guidelines will continue improving water quality around the state.

According to the Illinois Department of Conservation, there has been a definite improvement in water quality — as seen, for example, in a decreased number of pollution-related fish kills in the last few years.

Recent testimony before the Illinois Pollution Control Board has estimated the annual recreational value of Chicago-area waterways to local fishermen as being more than $500,000 a year. This value should increase as the water quality in that area improves.

Robinson re-elected; Eastern allowed vote

Russell Robinson of Granite City was re-elected president of the Metro-East Sanitary District in a controversial meeting at East St. Louis this morning.

Robinson was elected by acclamation, including the vote of Robert Eastern, East St. Louis trustee whose term expired today.

Robinson, during the reorganization meeting, declined to recognize Eastern as a member because of a change of control of the district to Madison County under new assessment figures which gave Madison County the right to name three board members.

Nelson Hagnauer, county board chairman, is to appoint that member Friday.

John Sprague, district attorney, ruled that Eastern and the newly appointed Madison member, could serve until the court settles a suit filed by Eastern challenging the change to Madison County.

Robinson, however, said he would not recognize Eastern, but Eastern was permitted to vote.

Robinson was nominated by Omar Brummitt of California and said Robinson "has done a splendid job and should be re-elected." Eastern nominated Brummitt who served as temporary chairman. Brummitt withdrew and Robinson was elected by acclamation.

The board elected Brummitt as vice-president. Robinson reappointed Wendell Whisenand as director, Helen Christ as chief clerk and Eugene Clark as treasurer. John Sprague and Edward Maas of Belleville, and Larry Calvo of Granite City, were appointed as attorneys. The board also increased Whisenand's salary by 5 percent, to $24,150, and said the 5 percent figure is an example of what district employees may expect in the way of salary raises.

Sprague told Robinson and the board members that when both Eastern and the new Madison County member serve on the board, the trustees "should be very cautious" of split votes.

Madison accident leaves 4 injured

Four were hurt in a three-car crash occurring at 11:30 a.m. Saturday on McCambridge Avenue at Edwardsville Road in Madison.

Operating the vehicles were Theresa A. Weaver, 20, of Affton, Mo., Albert H. Miller, 61, of 1500 Joy Ave., and Mary A. May, 23, of 504 Kirkpatrick Homes.

Mrs. May was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where x-rays were taken of the right

He said three votes are needed to approve an action but if the vote included one of the two men who later is declared not a member, the action could be affected.

Robinson said he will object to Eastern's votes in any case, and will attempt to recognize the new Madison member as the official member of the board.

knave, pelvic area and spine. She was released.

Her daughter, 2-month-old Staci May, who was thrown to the floor of the car, had x-rays taken at the local hospital and was transferred to Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital, St. Louis.

Another passenger in the May car, Vincetta Taylor, 40, of 1681 Olive St., suffered bruising to the right elbow, forehead and right knee. She had a series of x-rays taken before being released.

REALISTIC APPROACH to a real-life situation is taken by two personal and family living classes of Granite City High School South seen participating in one of two mock weddings Friday. Shown being "married" are Stephanie Brandt and Rollin Bickell with the Reverend Jeff Smith officiating. The "weddings" took place at the Community Heights Assembly of God Church, Fifth and Buxton Avenues. Each of the bridesmaids made her own dress and flowers as well as sending out invitations and helping pick the songs to be used during the two ceremonies. A wedding cake was baked and was served after the "weddings" in the basement of the church, where a dinner awaited the participants and guests. Parents and faculty attended. (Press-Record Photo)

News notes

Gerald B. Cohn, a Bethalto attorney, said today he will run for circuit judge in the Republican primary election.

The Illinois Farm Bureau voted at its annual meeting during the weekend to back legislation permitting elections to establish school district income taxes. Wilbert Engelke of Granite City was re-elected as a member of the state board of directors, representing Madison County.

Associated Judge John Day last week voided Madison County Board Member Homer Boothman's selection of his wife, Katherine Boothman, as an election judge in Nameoki Precinct Four, part of Boothman's District 25. It was noted that her name was not on the list prepared by precinct committee members and certified by the Madison County Democratic Central Committee.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Granite City police station and jail complex will be held at the site, 23rd Street and Madison Avenue, beginning at 10 a.m. Monday, Dec. 19, Mayor Paul Schuler announced today.

Although it now is legal to display new 1978 license plates on passenger cars, Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon today advised motorists that the old 1977 plates should be either destroyed or retained while they are still valid.

Employment rose 950,000 in November, the biggest one-month climb since April 1960, but the U.S. jobless rate dropped only to 6.9 percent from 7 percent. Unemployment dropped to 4.6 percent from 5.0 in Illinois, and to 6.3 from 6.4 percent in Madison-St. Clair counties.

Granite City Steel has a two-month coal supply and other area industries and utilities indicate similar stockpiles, easing the impact of a nationwide coal strike that has been predicted for midnight tonight.

Gov. James R. Thompson on Saturday used an amendmentary veto to allow him to appoint all eight members of the Illinois Board of Elections. The bill had given four appointments to the governor and four to the top executive officer of the other party.

Two injured at railroad tracks

Two women suffered minor injuries at 7:10 p.m. Sunday, when their neighborhood car, driven by Mary P. Prusacki, 1923 Fifth St., Madison, halted for a train on Edwardsville Road at 11th Street, was struck from the rear by another vehicle.

While she went to summon police, the second motorist drove away. Mrs. Prusacki said. The woman driver and a passenger in her car, Elenore Armour, 1538 Third St., Madison, both sustained injuries.

Polish yule tree at Madison Bank

By W. F. STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer
The lobby of the First National Bank in Madison is adorned with a Polish Christmas tree, decorated in Polish Christmas folk art.

Mrs. Margaret Lee, public relations director for the bank, said that each Christmas a different ethnic group will be featured.

The tree is decorated with delicate and jewelry-like ornaments. Mrs. Lee and Cathy Czernow of the Sacred Heart Polish National Catholic Church of Madison decorated the tree with Polish ornaments covering the span of the old and new worlds. The first known notation of decorating a tree in the Polish home was in 1970 when Father Anthony Zapinski wrote about green branches decorated with candles and toys, called "maiden branch" or "panna roza," appearing in Warsaw and other Polish cities. Gilded confections, walnuts, apples, miniature dolls, animals and colored candles decorated the branches, all of which were hand made.

The Czernow's, to depict the Polish tradition, made all the decorations on the tree in the bank lobby.

Divers unload cargo from sunken barge

Operations are continuing today to raise a sunken barge from the Chain of Rocks Canal at the Tri-City Regional Port, which broke in half and sank Thursday afternoon.

The Federal Barge Lines barge was loaded with steel scale for the Granite City Steel dock facility and was waiting to be unloaded when it broke at 3 p.m. Thursday. The bow and stern perched in the air a few minutes and then disappeared beneath the water.

Operations to unload the cargo began Saturday while surveyors for Federal Barge Lines and Art's Fleet Servvice, the port's towboat service, were preparing individual reports on what caused the old barge to break.

A crane on a barge used a clamshell to remove cargo from the barge's holds, aided by divers. It is hoped the unloading operations can be completed today and the crane will be able to lift the two halves of the barge from the water and load them onto other barges for removal.

The broken barge is not hindering operations at any of the port's facilities, a spokesman said today.

Koepke coordinator of area development

The appointment of Robert L. Koepke, professor of geography at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, as coordinator of area development was announced today by Earl E. Lazerson, vice-president and provost.

Koepke will be responsible for collecting and disseminating information relating to the university's involvement in area development activities.

He also will be responsible for encouraging interaction between interested university faculty and community organizations on common developmental problems, Lazerson said.

Appointment of a coordinator of area development was recommended by members of an ad hoc task force charged by Lazerson to study ways SIUE could get more deeply involved in such development activities.

Historically, the university has been involved in area development and community affairs. However, the task force reported that the educational institution is capable of strengthening its efforts in improving the welfare of citizens of this region.

"While it may not be possible or desirable to obtain consensus positions on major development questions, such as the proposed regional airport or the river port situation, the university could assist in identifying those areas of common interest where unified action on the part of public and private parties could be facilitated," the committee reported.

Koepke is the research editor of the American Industrial Development Council Journal and assistant director of the advanced symposium for the organization.

The educator is engaged in numerous area development activities, including acting as a consultant to the Civic Memorial Airport Authority, the City of Edwardsville, the Illinois Department of Transportation, the City of Granite City and the O'Hare Economic Development Commission.

He also works with the Southern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association and the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council in the area of economic development.

A. B. Dickerson, 81, dies

Albert Benton Dickerson, 81, of Granite City, a retired Granite City Steel employee, died at 2 p.m. Saturday at The Colonades.

Mr. Dickerson had been ill two months and was a patient at The Colonades for the past four weeks.

He was born in Overton County, Tenn., and lived in the Granite City area for 58 years. Mr. Dickerson was employed as a shearer in the Hot Strip Department at Granite City Steel for 33 years prior to retiring in 1962.

He was a member of Calvary

Baptist Church and a former member of United Steelworkers of America, Local 67. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lucinda Dickerson; one daughter, Mrs. Glen (Margaret) Michaels of Granite City; a son, Willard Dickerson of Collinsville; three brothers, John Dickerson, St. Charles, Mo.; Millard Dickerson, Granite City and Jess Dickerson, Clayton, Mo.; four grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Arthur Cox, 87, succumbs

Arthur Cox, 87, of 2456 Missouri Ave., a retired farmer, died at 4:20 p.m. Saturday at the Notre Dame Nursing Home in Belleville, following an illness of 2½ years.

Mr. Cox was born in Topeka, Kan., but had farmed in Southeastern Missouri for many years.

He lived in Granite City for the past five years and previously resided near Campbell, Mo.

Surviving are three sons, John Cox of Granite City, and Vern and Charles Cox, both of Garden City, Kan.; one daughter, Mrs. Harvey (Della)

Thrasher of Granite City; and 18 grandchildren. Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Guitar, amplifier stolen from church

The Rev. Ralph McKinney, pastor of Bethel Chapel, East 55th and August streets, reported at 10:10 a.m. Friday, a burglar had entered the church by breaking a basement window and crawling through the opening about 12 inches high. Basement cabinets were searched and a desk and the pastor's office were ransacked. Stolen from the sanctuary and office were a guitar and two amplifiers, a public address amplifier and microphone mixer, an American flag, a jar of pennies and four microphones, the latter group valued at $250.

O'Hare uranium hearing on Friday

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has announced that the U.S. House Subcommittee on Environment, Energy and Natural Resources, which is coming to Illinois this week to hold a hearing on atomic waste storage, has agreed to expand it to include the problem of shipment of high-level radioactive material through O'Hare Airport, Chicago.

Scott said he spoke with Congressman Leo J. Ryan (D-California), subcommittee chairman, who agreed to broaden the agenda by adding the O'Hare problem.

Scott will testify at the hearing, which will be held Friday from 9:30 a.m. until noon in the Ceremonial Room of the Dirksen Federal Building. Ryan will hold a 12:30 p.m. press conference.

On Thursday, the subcommittee will make on-the-spot investigations of high-level nuclear wastes stored in General Electric's Morris, Ill., facility and Nuclear Engineering's storage site at Sheffield.

The Illinois attorney general urged the subcommittee to come to Illinois when it testified before it in Washington in September. In that testimony, he strongly condemned shipment of out-of-state nuclear wastes to Sheffield and Morris.

In a letter written last week to Mayor Blandine, Scott asked the Chicago mayor to put an immediate ban on the shipment of high-level radioactive material through O'Hare.

Scott said 22 of 24 uranium shipments exported from the U.S. or imported since mid-1975 have gone through O'Hare Airport. The uranium is "waste-grade" and highly enriched with radioactive material.

Scott warned that a major danger in such shipments is the possibility that they might fall into the hands of terrorists.

He said dangerous nuclear material should only be shipped in and out of the military bases nearest to where the nuclear material is produced and where there is adequate protection against terrorist hijackers.

Warriors in fine form in rolling to two weekend basketball wins

It was a very good weekend for the Granite City High School South basketball squad. The Warriors won two straight games to run their season record to 5-0.

South beat Triad here on Friday and sped away from Jerseyville on the road Saturday night, 56-43.

Friday's South-Triad game put a few grey hairs on the head of Warrior coach Don Deterding. His cagers held a commanding lead in the first quarter, lost their momentum in the second and third periods, and then rallied in the fourth to win going away, 65-48.

The Warriors worked the ball well, dominating the first quarter. They jumped out to a quick lead and limited the Knights to only two points, to lead at the end of the period, 12-2.

Foul trouble plagued the Warriors in the second period. Triad scored eight points on free throws.

But the tough South defense and some ineptness on the part of Triad turned into turnovers for the Warriors, and a narrow 24-20 lead at the halftime intermission.

TRIAD'S Barry Noelner scored to tie the Knights to within two points on a basket at the beginning of the second half, but a bucket by Warrior Terry Angle just 20 seconds later made the margin four once more. That was as close as Triad would get.

Each team took turns putting the ball in the bucket as South scored eight field goals to Triad's seven, bringing the score to 41-36.

With 20 seconds left in the third quarter, the whistle sounded, the referee pointed at South's Greg Feigl and the crowd voiced its disapproval. Feigl had just fouled out (for the third time in four games).

The Warriors got their machine in gear in the fourth quarter. They out-scored the Knights 25-12. The last two points were scored by Tom Henrich with only six seconds remaining in the game to bring the score to 65-48 when the buzzer sounded.

"WE HAD FOUR GUYS IN double figures," said Deterding. "If Feigl could have stayed in the game, we probably would have had five in that category."

Henrich had an off-night... he missed a couple of layups and three free throws... but he managed to tie the Aggie for high-game scoring honors with 14.

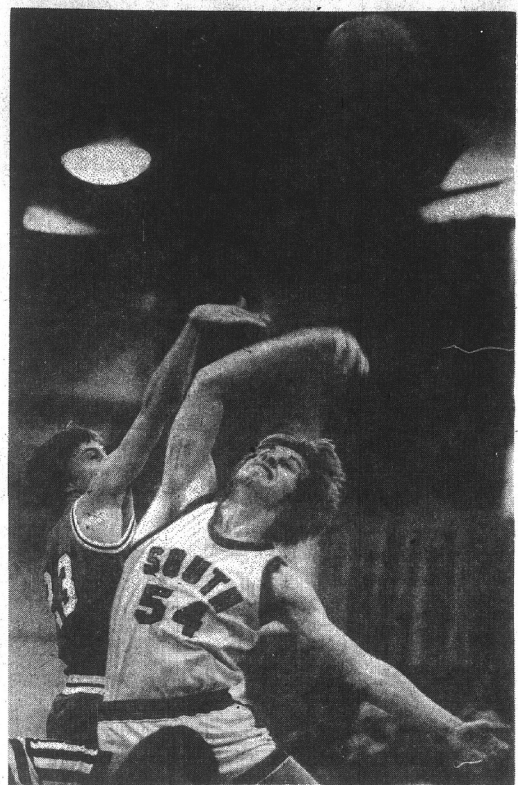

The two guards, Tretter and Parker, played and anticipated very well," said Deterding. However, the coach wasn't entirely pleased with his team's effort. "We've got to get more rebounds to run, and we have to run to be effective," he concluded.

ON SATURDAY NIGHT, the Warriors grabbed a lead in the first quarter and won by 13 points. But, not without letting Jerseyville have a run at them.

"We just don't have the killer instinct yet," said Deterding. "We're not playing consistently well. We haven't been able to sustain a good, strong offense, but I think our defense

Steelers split on the weekend

Page leads Steelers in 73-52 route

By PETE HAYES
Press-Record Sports Editor
Technically speaking, it was a good win for the Steelers to get under their belts. For Dennis Page, it was Christmas a little early.

Page burned the nets with free throws at Memorial Gymnasium Saturday night with 37 points, nine of them on technical foul free throws, in leading his North Steelers to their first win of the season, 73-52 over East St. Louis Assumption.

The Steelers thus gained a split of their two weekend games. They lost to Wood River Friday night on the road, 80-44.

In all, four technical fouls were called on the Assumption bench... two on head coach Lou Godfrey, and another on the assistant coach.

It seemed at the outset as if Assumption, playing its first game of the season, would be able to get things going its way... that is, run-and-gun.

"We started out to run and I think Granite North knew it," said Godfrey. "But we had a lot of mistakes happen early, along with the first game jitters, and we just lost the momentum."

It wasn't just the momentum that the Pioneers lost... it was the ball.

In a span from 2:33 left in the first quarter until there were nine seconds left in that period, they committed eight straight turnovers without scoring a single point in the night possessions, eight turnovers.

Merry Christmas, Steelers!

"THAT ONE SERIES OF turnovers just got us down," said Gregory. "I thought our defense looked good at the beginning. Then those turnovers hit us, and we just sort of lost everything at once."

But North mentor Bill Oleniuk had a different explanation. "We adjusted well to their defense," he said. "That's the reason we were getting those open shots later in the game."

"Really just the opposite occurred between the two teams. We started out a little disorganized and then put it together. They started out fast, but we soon adjusted and played our game."

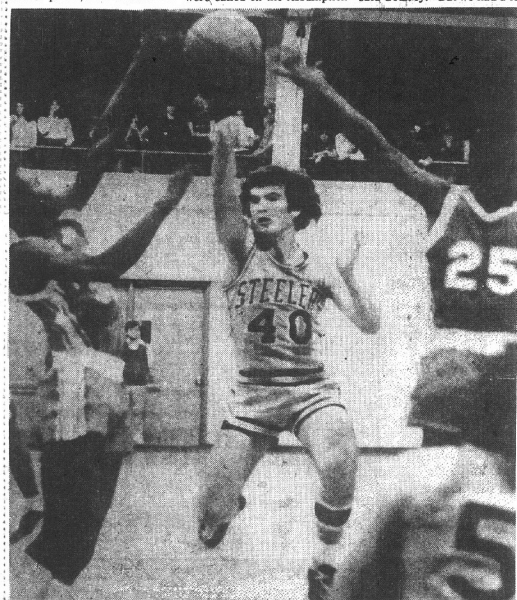

THE STEELERS were trailing at the start of that Assumption turnover spree. They went ahead during it and

Soccer Cougars 3rd in nation

San Francisco failed in its bid for a third straight national soccer championship yesterday but not until it had eliminated the SIUE Cougars' hopes in a 2-1 overtime game Saturday.

Hartwick College of Oneonta, N.Y., defeated San Francisco 3-1 to win Division I of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

SIUE captured third place by rallying to top Brown 3-2 on Sunday. Brown had bowed to Hartwick 4-1 in the semifinals. Hartwick wound up the only major undefeated college team in the U.S. with a 16-0-1 record.

With its 20-game victory streak ended, San Francisco finished at 25-4-1.

Brown ended at 12-4-2 and the Cougars at 12-4-1.

SIUE fell behind on enemy goals at 13:33 and 24:09 but tied Brown as freshman Bob Bonade scored unassisted at 42:58 and Chris Cacciatore tallied for the Cougars with a solo effort at 76:44.

Dave Hummert later passed to freshman Tim Guelker, who scored to provide the deciding goal.

Coach Bob Guelker, whose St. Louis U. teams won five NCAA soccer titles, also owns an NCAA college division crown as SIUE coach and had hoped to add a national university championship to the Cougars' laurels.

But after San Francisco went ahead at 18:30, SIUE was only able to tie it, by Matt Malloy at 72:03 on a pass from Jeff Cacciatore. Then, the Dons ended the game after 13 minutes and 14 seconds of the first overtime.

SIUE reached the 1975 national finals here against San Francisco, only to lose 4-0.

The Cougars bowed to Indiana, the eventual 1976 national runnerup, in last year's Midwest finals.

He really didn't have a very good week in practice, but he was going pretty well out there on the floor.

But Venice came right back and climbed to within one point at 12:11 on a 10-foot shot by Reggie Mathis.

Mathis grabbed a quick bucket at the buzzer and led by three at the break, 14-11.

That's when the roof fell in on Venice. A tremendous second quarter surge, partly due to Venice turnovers, led to the Red Devils being outscored in the period by a whopping 24-5.

In fact, they didn't even score a point until there was just over two minutes remaining in the half.

The Trojans could coast from there, outscoring Venice by only one in the third period and by three in the final stanza. But the damage had already been done.

"I THOUGHT we had a good chance on our hands after the first quarter," said Venice coach Ken Perkins. "But Madison got few breaks and that just sort of got us down. The momentum just switched. Our guys are so anxious to get out there and play that they don't really have enough patience yet to play smart, heads up basketball. But I think it'll come with time."

TIME is one thing that Graham and his Trojans have quite a bit of right now. They have an 11-day layoff between games.

Their next contest isn't until Tuesday, Dec. 13, when they play host to St. Henry. They then have a Friday game (at Assumption) and a Saturday contest at Effingham St. Anthony.

How will the long layoff affect the Trojans?

"I'm not sure," said Graham. "We'll have a long time to prepare, but when we come back, we get right back into the swing of things with three games in five days."

"It could help us because we won't have any games to wear us down or take chances on injuries between now and then."

But Perkins isn't quite as fortunate. His Devils get back into the swing tomorrow night when they travel across the Mississippi to play at Sumner High at 6 o'clock (junior varsity at 6:30).

Shemwell Bearcat wrestler

Jim Shemwell, a freshman wrestler at Northwest Missouri State University, and a product of Granite City North, will be competing this year as an individual on the Bearcat wrestling team.

Shemwell, a heavyweight, is a member of a team which compiled a 13-3 dual meet record last year.

Steeler Boosters to meet Thursday

Parents of students at North are being urged to attend a regular monthly meeting of the North Steelers Booster Club. The meeting will be on Thursday, Dec. 8, and will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

South grapplers sweep two

The South Warrior wrestling team took two straight meets over the weekend, winning Friday over Edwardsville 46-15 and Saturday over Bloomington 30-18.

Both matches were at South. On Friday, the results for the Warriors were: 98-pound-Greg Harland (S) pinned Paul Birge (3:20), 105-Kevin McCracken (E) defeated Paul Willis (S) 12-7, 112-Scott Clement (S) pinned Brian Horwath (3:07), 119-Wally Doshon (S) defeated Paddock 10, 126-Barry Forsee (S) pinned Lonnie Reynolds (2:50), 132-Dan Perkins (S) pinned Maurice Hurst (3:38), 138-Sam Perkins (S) defeated Andy Russell (1:57), 146-Darrell Hasty (S) defeated Rod Jackson (6:22), 155-Mike Forsee (S) pinned Ralph Zwick (1:38), 167-Randy Howerton (E) pinned Bart Gardner (2:23), 182-Mark Lamp (S) defeated Nick Urquhart (2:4), Heavyweight-Mark Heller (E) pinned Dennis Scarsdale (3:20).

South won the junior varsity meet, 52-4.

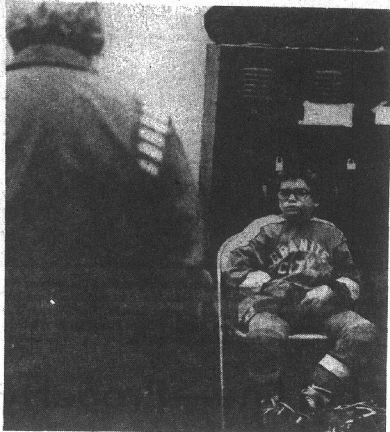

In the Warrior win over

Bloomington, the results were: 98-Greg Harland (S) defeated Dallas Lucas (E) 19-3, 105-Jeff Davis (S) and Troy Meek (E) battled to a draw, 112-Fred Mariane (E) defeated Scott Clement (S) 12-7, 119-Wally Doshon (S) defeated Troy Johnson 17-0, 126-Barry Forsee (S) pinned Raul Martinez (1:02), 132-Dan Perkins (S) defeated Jeff McCuen 13-3, 138-Sam Perkins (S) pinned Jeff Bowers (0:27), 146-Darrell Hasty (S) pinned Dave Fairbanks (5:06), 155-Ray Wiley (E) defeated Mike Forsee 15-3, 167-Todd Lake (E) defeated Bart Gardner 12-8, 182-Steve Gay (E) defeated Mark Lamp 5-2, Heavyweight-Brian Dunn (E) defeated Dennis Scarsdale 5-2.

The next match for the Warriors is set for next Friday at Alton Senior High School.

UNDERCOATING - RALPH'S TEXACO 22ND & MADISON AVE.

Look out Canada, here comes Granite!

Photos: Above: A post-game locker room session with coach, Jake Hinterser (foreground) has Billy Moore of the Granite City Squirt team entranced. Right: The kids can skate just as well as the big guys, as this member of the GC Squirts Red team demonstrates. Above right: Lee Schrieber takes a page out of the pro's book and relaxes after his Quirt White game with a cool one... Coke, that is.

At this time of the year, most young boys' sights turn to basketball, wrestling or some other "normal" indoor winter sport for this part of the country... the Midwest. The last thing you'd expect a Southern Illinois youngster to be doing would be lacing up a pair of skates and playing ice hockey on a regulation rink. But it's being done... right in our own back yard.

The Granite City Amateur Ice Hockey Association has been sponsoring hockey teams for boys from the ages of four up to 21 for several years and has had a good deal of success.

The teams that make up the league range from the Pee Wee (4-7) all the way up to the Juniors (16-21) and include all ages in between.

The association belongs to a St. Louis area hockey association and plays teams from all over the area. The season has just begun.

Some of the teams that are played include Creve Coeur, Mearme, Kirkwood, Clayton and University City. And the Granite City kids hold their own quite well with the guys from the "big city," thank you.

To hear the shouts and the slapping of the puck against the boards and the swish of the skates on the ice, one might think he were somewhere else... say inside the Checkerdome in St. Louis. That is, until he opens his eyes and sees a group of droopy-drawered four-year olds out on the ice skating better than they can walk.

The kids take it all quite seriously, too. They get together before and after the game for locker room sessions with their coaches... who are all volunteers, by the way.

But sportsmanship is also one of the main things that is taught in the Hockey Association in addition to how to skate and slap a puck.

After each game, both teams line up at center ice and shake hands... kinda makes you wish that everything could end that way, doesn't it?

Team openings still left for ABC championships

There are still openings for those who wish to bowl in the team event at the American Legion Bowling Congress Championships Feb. 18 through May 14, according to Cliff Leeker, secretary of the Greater St. Louis Bowling Association. The championships will be in the new St. Louis Convention Center. The openings are: 10 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 18; 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 18; 8 p.m. Saturday, April 29; 10:30 p.m. Saturday, April 29; 10 p.m. Sunday, April 30 and 7 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 22. All entries are to be sent to Leeker, c/o the Greater St. Louis Bowling Association, 2523 S. Jefferson Avenue, St. Louis, Mo. 63104. It is suggested by Leeker that three choices of dates be sent in with each entry. Advance admission tickets are also still available for the championship series. They are $1 each, are good anytime, and are transferable.

The deadline for tickets is Dec. 31. They are good at any session of the series and will be $2 at the door. Advance tickets may be obtained by contacting Leeker at the Bowling Association.

Three honored at Aurora

Three former Granite City soccer players have been honored at Aurora College, Aurora, Ill. Athletic Director Sam Bedrosian announced the presentation of varsity award letters to Marcus Voegel, Randall Lyerla and Gary Hency for participation on this fall's Aurora Spartan soccer team.

All three former Granite City players were named to the Illinois Interscholastic Conference all-star team. Voegel is a senior, Hency a junior and Lyerla a freshman at Aurora College.

North earns 3 mat victories

Opening their 1977-78 dual meet season with a flourish, the Granite City High School North Steelers chalked up three victories during the weekend. It's seldom easy. Each grappler is entirely on his own as he competes in the center of the big mat.

But Coach Walt Whitaker's highly-trained North wrestlers almost made it look easy as they defeated Parkway North 23-19 here Friday night and then beat Wood River 55-6 and Lincoln (Ill.) 40-12 in a double meet Saturday afternoon at Wood River.

The Steelers will keep active this week, traveling to Belleville East for competition at all age levels tomorrow night.

The Granite City North matmen encountered muscular foes but defeated Parkway North of St. Louis County on the strength of success in the lighter weights.

Welcoming the home season at North's gymnasium Friday, Steeler hand and drill units entertained the big turnout. The results:

98-pound: Russ Grasso (North) winner by forfeit.
106: Bob Kirgan (N) winner on a forfeit.
112: Brett Smith (N) decisioned Weiss, 5-0.
119: Kris Whelan (N) pinned Quick (1:00).

126: Kevin Shemwell (N) pinned Anthony (3:14).

132: Bob Walker (Parkway) defeated Al Kirgan (3-0).

138: Steve Haeffner (N) over Henty (10-6).

145: Ray Stuart (N) defeated Harrel (4-2).

155: Mitch Beyer (Parkway) defeated Joe (7-0).

167: Steve Spatoroth (Parkway) defeated Brian Cuvor (6-4).

185: Mike Mercer (Parkway) defeated Gary Broadwater (16-4).

Heavyweight: Brian Weaver (Parkway) pinned Tim Wyrostek (0:32).

Bouts in the 55-6 victory over Wood River follow:

96: Grasso won by pin over Jeff Ruyle (1:42).

106: Bob Kirgan (N) won by pin over Ted Stasi (3:48).

112: Smith (N) won over Dean Harrison (10-3).

119: Tracy Patton (N) won by a pin over Mike Terry (2:38).

126: Shemwell (N) won over Greg Shemake (14-0).

132: Allen Kirgan (N) won over John White (9-4).

138: Haeffner (N) won over Stuart (N) won by a pin over Ed Benfield (3:00).

155: Bolt (N) won by a pin over Dean Robison (2:38).

167: Cuvor (N) won by a pin over Mark St. Peter (1:30).

185: Broadwater (N) won over Kevin Bagent (8-3).

Heavyweight: Tony Levan (Wood River) won by a pin over Tim Wyrostek (0:21).

Results in the 40-12 win over Lincoln follow:

96: Grasso over Dan Bent (13-9).

105: Bob Kirgan over Tim Check (11-4).

112: Smith over Tom Kaiser (5:09).

119: Whelan by fall over Dave Jackson (1:52).

126: Shemwell over Greg Dee (3-0).

Holiday activities by Mexican group

The Mexican Honorary Commission will hold its annual Christmas party Sunday, Dec. 18, at 2 p.m. A buffet dinner is planned.

Games, entertainment and Santa will be on hand to give presents to the children. Rose Grim, Jo Rodgers and Mary Martinez are chairmen for this event. Members are to bring canned goods for Christmas baskets.

Elections are being held to choose four trustees for two-year terms. Ruby Ybarra is the nominating chairman.

Plans have been completed for a New Year's Eve dance at the club, 1801 Spruce St., featuring the "Oasis" music group. A buffet-type dinner will be served.

Tickets are limited and will be on a first come, first served basis at $10 per person. Tickets are being handled by the club chairman, Domingo Valencia. The club has congratulated Rufus and Shirley Valencia on their new son, Christopher Ramon Valencia, and Stanley and Eileen Valencia on their new daughter, Beth Valencia.

Senior hot line—Property tax relief is helping many

(Office of Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal)

Q. How much money am I entitled to under the Circuit Breaker law?

A. The law's two tax relief programs provide up to $600 annually—$500 in property tax relief and $100 in additional tax relief—to qualified senior and disabled citizens of Illinois.

The property tax relief program is based on the ratio of the person's property taxes to his income. Property tax relief grants last year averaged $162. The additional tax relief program, signed into law in 1975 by the governor, is based on income, and grants have averaged $80.

Q. Is there a deadline for filing my claim?

A. Yes, citizens who have not filed for Circuit Breaker tax relief for any years between 1972 and 1976 have until Dec. 31, 1977, to apply with the state.

Beginning Jan. 1, 1978, maximum property tax relief grants will increase from $500 to $650, with a one-year limitation on the filing period for tax relief claims.

Q. Would the money I received under the Circuit Breaker law ever have to be paid back?

A. No. These are grants, not loans.

Q. Is it possible for people to qualify for both tax relief grants?

A. Yes. And thousands of people have.

Anyone who qualifies for property tax relief qualifies automatically for additional tax relief. That's because the age or disability, residency, and annual household income requirements of the two programs are nearly identical.

Q. The words, "household income," are used in the qualifications for both programs. What does "household income" mean?

A. It means the total annual income of the applicant and spouse, if the spouse lives in the same residence as the applicant.

The income of anyone else living in the residence need not be declared.

The income sources, listed on the application form, include any wages, Social Security benefits, other pension or annuity benefits, interest or dividend income, or any net income received.

You should know that household income includes both taxable and non-taxable income. The grants are based on total income—whether subject to the income tax or not.

Q. Is there help available for filling out the application form?

A. Yes, and without cost. Call or write Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal's Senior Action Centers at 160 N. LaSalle, Chicago 60601 or 3 West Old Town Hall, Springfield, 62701. Telephone toll-free 800-252-6565.

Volunteers will help by sending the necessary form, or by discussing the form line by line to help you fill it in yourself. It is not that hard. If you need more help, the volunteers will send you to a center where you will receive help at no charge.

Christmas craft fair

The first floor of the University Center at SIUE will be filled with "crafty" people Wednesday through Friday, Dec. 7, 8 and 9, when the University Center Craft Shop presents its fifth annual Christmas craft fair.

The fair, to be held from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., will be the "biggest and best yet," according to Janet Rosenberger, coordinator of the event.

"The best crafts people in the Illinois and St. Louis areas will be here with pottery, paintings, woodcarvings, glasswork, weavings, jewelry, leather goods and more," she said.

There will be 45 exhibitors with 75 tables. One exhibitor is coming from Kansas, one from Ohio, and a few from the Champaign and Carbondale areas. Students from SIUE also will exhibit their works.

Highlights will include a demonstration by a glass blower, a woman wood carver who inscribes names in wood with each letter an interlocking puzzle piece, and a man who sings while carving wood.

For the third year in a row, wooden hanging planters with mirrors in the back will be featured.

She added, "A new and different exhibit this year will be gourd sculptures, and there will be more pottery this year than ever before."

The fair is free and open to the public. Special invitations have been sent to senior citizens clubs and nursing home residents to attend the three-day event as a field trip.

Fifteen percent of all proceeds from items sold will go to the Craft Shop, which will organize and supply the tables and space for the exhibitors.

North concert band to open season tonight

The Granite City High School North Concert Band will open its winter season of four concerts in the Memorial Auditorium at 8 p.m. today, under direction of Robert D. Todoroff.

Tonight's performance will be presented with the 105 band members in formal attire. They will present a wide variety of concert band literature during the hour-long program, as well as seasonal Christmas music. Arrangements for the concert are under the auspices of the Granite City High North Band Parents Association of which Harold Stoker is president.

The second concert of the season will be presented Monday, Feb. 6, at the North Cafeteria. This will be the popular "Pop and Pretzel" concert performed annually.

Mini courses— Roots, Lincoln

Two mini courses which will deal with historical topics will be offered in the winter quarters at SIUE.

"Genealogy—The Search for Family Roots" will be offered from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Thursdays. Taught by Stanley Kimball, professor in the department of historical studies, the course will be a workshop, with students tracing their own family roots. Kimball said he will assist them through lectures and demonstrations, with students using a family group sheet and "pedigree" chart. Text and other materials will also be available.

"Abraham Lincoln—His Life, Career and Death" will be taught by Patrick Riddleberger, professor in the department of historical studies. The class will meet from 6:30 to 8:20 p.m. Thursdays. It will deal with Lincoln as an American leader, including his rise to power and the major decisions he made as president.

Riddleberger said emphasis will be placed on Lincoln's personal life. Materials will include a book entitled "The Day Lincoln Was Shot," as well as biographical data.

GROUND-BREAKING CEREMONIES for the new Madison School are held at the site last week as the Rev. Paul Davis, foreground at left center, with arm lifted, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Madison, offers invocation to mark the beginning of the ceremonies. Standing behind shovels are State Representatives Joe Lucio and James McPike, State Senator Sam Vadalabene, holding a silver-plated shovel to turn the first earth, and Sam Dymas, a board member. Other board members at right are Frank Eaves, president of board; Chester McManaway, partially hidden behind Superintendent of Schools John Patcheff; Harold T. Fisk, secretary of the board, and David Miskelley, board member. Senator Vadalabene turned the first shovel of dirt.

Monitoring method aids heart victims

Dr. Larry Harmon of St. Elizabeth Hospital presented "Hemodynamic Monitoring in the Management of Patients with Myocardial Infarction" to fellow medical staff members at the late-November continuing medical education meeting.

Dr. Harmon lectured on the double lumen monitoring catheter, designed to monitor pulmonary artery and pulmonary wedge pressures, and to allow sampling of mixed venous blood. Injection or infusion of solutions is possible, also, he said.

The monitoring catheters provide a rapid, simple and effective method for catheterizing the right heart to monitor right atrial, right ventricular, pulmonary artery and pulmonary wedge pressures, it was explained.

The Swan-Ganz flow-directed monitoring catheter has a soft, pliable body which permits simple and rapid insertion into the pulmonary artery, usually without the aid of fluoroscopy, eliminating the need to transport a critically ill patient to a special facility for cardiac catheterization. Blood flow rapidly propels the balloon-tipped catheter from the right atrium into the pulmonary artery, normally within less than one minute, Dr. Harmon related.

DR. LARRY HARMON

The catheters have been found to be valuable in determining optimal fluid management in patients with cardiac and noncardiac conditions. Monitoring of right atrial, pulmonary artery and pulmonary wedge pressures permits quick identification of therapeutic needs and subsequent intervention, the speaker concluded.

Continuing medical education meetings are held every two weeks at the local hospital. Credit is earned by participating physicians.

Frostbite dangerous

(American Medical Association)

Cold weather has returned and with it come the health hazards that accompany subfreezing temperatures. An ever-present winter danger in most of the United States is frostbite.

Frostbite is, naturally, more of a problem in the northern states, but even in most of the south there are occasional periods of weather cold enough to nip unprotected noses and cheeks.

Frostbite can be very painful, can result in amputations, and can leave the victim hypersensitive to cold for the rest of his or her life.

In some ways, the damage of frostbite is similar to a burn. Injuries to both deep and shallow tissue are comparable.

First-degree frostbite, like sunburn, is an injury to surface skin. It is likely to attack ears, toes, fingers, cheeks or nose.

Second-degree frostbite produces blisters, as in second-degree burns.

In third-degree frostbite, the damage is deep and much of the frozen part may be lost.

Prevention is the best protection. This means being properly dressed in warm clothing, waterproof shoes, and heavy, dry socks, with good covering for head and ears.

Keep clothing dry from both outside moisture and perspiration, and avoid tight clothing or garters that may restrict circulation.

Motorists traveling across country in subfreezing weather are advised to have heavy clothing and shoes in the car, in the event of a breakdown and a necessary hike for help.

If your auto is stalled in snow

BAND PARENTS TO MEET
Granite City High School South Band Parents will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the school's band room. Parents of all band members are being invited.

or ice some distance from help, it may be safer to stay in the car than to walk a long distance in extreme cold in light clothing.

The first signs of frostbite are a "pins and needles" prickly feeling, and then numbness.

The affected part will turn white or grey and later red.

Groups such as the military often use the buddy system outdoors in severe weather. Each buddy watches the other's face for signs of frostbite.

First-aid possibilities are limited. Thawing of the tissue as soon as possible is the first consideration. This can best be accomplished by getting indoors into a warm room.

Treat the frozen part gently and do not rub or massage it. The old technique of rubbing snow or ice water on the frozen spot does more harm than good by delaying thawing.

Medical treatment is needed promptly.

Control of the severe pain is required, and antibiotics and antitetanus injections may be needed if the skin is broken. Often, the frozen skin will eventually slough off.

WORKSHOP ON NURSES' LEGAL RESPONSIBILITY

A workshop on the legal implications of nursing practice will be held on the Carbondale campus of Southern Illinois University Dec. 15 from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. Sponsored by the Continuing Education Program of the SIUE School of Nursing, the workshop will be held in Ballroom B of the University Center.

Included in this workshop will be a discussion of the new Illinois Practice Act. Other subjects will include accountability and responsibilities of the nurse, including patient teaching and carrying out physicians' orders; the emerging role of the nurse practitioner in individual practice for third-party pay; and the responsibility of each nurse for continuing education.

Students and passengers are 'consumers' to Bill Norwood

From reservation to destination and from registration to graduation, William R. Norwood feels that passengers of a jetliner and students at a university having something in common. They both need tender, loving care. Aboard the DC-8 he flies for United Airlines, Norwood's primary concern is the passengers. "I think of the passengers back there as consumers. I want to give them the best service I can," he said.

When he exchanges the first officer's seat for his seat as a member of the Board of Trustees for the Southern Illinois University system, Norwood's concern is for the students. They are also consumers investing in a service, and he feels they should get the best service possible for their time and money.

From the time that Norwood was a lad growing up in Centralia, he never stopped believing that one day he would become a flyer. No fireman's hat or policeman's whistle would do. He was determined he would fly.

The chances of a black youngster becoming a commercial pilot during the early '50s were mighty small. At that time, there were no black pilots employed by the major airlines.

Although Norwood realized there were possible barriers, he refused to acknowledge them. His flying career got off the ground through the ROTC program at SIU at Carbondale, where he obtained his private license to fly and a degree in chemistry, graduating in 1959.

Shortly after graduation, Norwood joined the U.S. Air Force, where he received further flight training at San Antonio and Moore Air Force Base in Texas. He had earned his wings and was finally airborne.

After leaving the armed services in 1963, Norwood joined the ranks of United. And there he has remained, logging more than 9,000 air hours and flying a host of DC-6s and 8s, and a few Boeing 727s and 737s, as well as a Caravelle or two.

Criscrossing the country with vapor trails, the veteran flyer now makes between 35 and 40 trips each month.

Education is high on the list of priorities at the family home on Wellington Avenue in Elk Grove Village. Norwood's wife, Molly (nee Cross), received her undergraduate degree at Carbondale during their courtship days.

Now that their two sons are almost grown, both have continued their education.

Norwood has obtained a master of business administration degree from the University of Chicago, and his wife has almost completed the requirements for a master's degree in education with a concentration in reading at Northern Illinois University.

Molly is supportive of her husband's activities. "I try to provide the same kind of support for her, also," Norwood said.

Because they are away much of the time, housekeeping chores are a family affair. Whoever is home when the job needs to be done, does it.

Norwood's advice to young people wanting to get ahead includes setting realistic goals for themselves and ignoring external limitations set by others. "If they set their goals too high, they set themselves up for a lot of frustration," he said.

Many people are diverted from their goals because of a discouraging word, he said. They give up, and society is deprived of what they might have accomplished. "They drop out, hurting everybody," Norwood said.

Some success, however small, is necessary to keep people motivated. "By not attaining any successes, they don't develop a keen awareness that they can be successful. It is easy for them to become distracted or diverted from their goals," Norwood said.

His early accomplishments were on the SIUC gridiron. Attending the university on a football scholarship, the young man was regarded as an outstanding quarterback for the Salukis for three consecutive seasons, beginning with 1956.

The pilot-trustee believes everyone is capable of doing more. "Even if persons cannot go all the way toward doing what they want to do, they can at least go farther than they are."

"One doesn't have to win the game to be successful. At times, being successful simply means participating in the game," he said.

Norwood believes that people could go farther in accomplishing their goals if the time they spend in complaining about barriers was spent more productively.

People set the tone of their behavior by the way they see four ounces of liquid in an eight-ounce glass, he said. If they see the glass as half-filled, they have a positive outlook on life. If they see the glass as half-empty, they are inclined to look at life negatively.

"If we believe the glass is closer to being full than empty, everything put into it makes it closer to being full."

Once we think it is closer to empty, everything else takes on that negative attitude," Norwood comments.

Much of the board member's time during layovers is spent catching up on SIUC board matters.

University board materials follow him all around the country, tucked away in his briefcase against the moment after laydown when he will have the time to concentrate on them.

If he hasn't untangled the complexities of a problem by board meeting time, Norwood will ask for a clearer explanation. "I want a couple of printouts on this in layman's language," he often requests.

When Norwood is not flying the skies for United or digesting SIUC board matters, he may be chasing an elusive ball around a golf course, playing tennis, or teaching his elder son to fly. The airman doesn't think it's particularly true that someone other than parents should instruct their children.

And he doesn't consider it a bit unusual that a governor of Illinois would choose an airline pilot to be a member of the board of trustees for one of the state's major university systems.

Trustees are chosen from every walk of life. "Doctors, lawyers, bankers and farmers become board members. Why not a pilot?" Norwood asks. His colleagues on the board echo the same attitude.

Silver being reclaimed by VA hospital

Illinois' six Veterans Administration hospitals have salvaged 11,097 troy ounces of silver from X-ray film during the past 15 months. Selling it at $4.55 a troy ounce, the VA was able to add $50,101 to its supply funds from the sale.

Nationwide, the VA's 172 hospitals reclaimed 267,697 troy ounces of silver.

In Illinois, the Hines VA hospital reclaimed the most ounces, 4,896, worth $22,768; Westside (Chicago) hospital, 3,775 ounces worth $17,553; Lakeside (Chicago), 1,194 ounces, $4,442; Danville hospital, 606 ounces, $2,817; Marion hospital, 545 ounces worth $2,534; and North Chicago hospital, 81 ounces, $376.

The nation currently consumes more than five times the amount of silver it produces. The VA program is being called a major contribution to the nation's supply of silver.

GOLFING BUDDIES contemplate shaping up for the golf season. B. B. Hollings (left), a skipper at O'Hare Airport in Chicago, and Bill Norwood, a pilot for United Airlines, consider how many pounds they must shed to get in shape before the spring golf season rolls around. Norwood is also a member of the Board of Trustees of the Southern Illinois University system. When he is not flying the skies for United or digesting SIUC board matters, Norwood enjoys a round of golf with Hollings.

Competition among research scholars

The opening of competition for the fifth annual university research scholar award program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been announced by Dean Vaughn J. Lindsay of the Graduate School.

The competition, sponsored jointly by the Graduate School and the Schools of Humanities, Social Sciences, Fine Arts, Science and Technology, Education, Business, Nursing and Dental Medicine, will enable a scholar in each of three categories to pursue his or her project with one-third released time during the academic year and up to $7,500 for direct research expenses.

Dean Lindsay announced that instead of junior-senior categories, this year's competition will feature three categories to encourage maximum participation in all fields of research:

Category I — physical, biological and technological sciences.

Category II — behavioral, social and pedagogical sciences.

Category III — humanities and the arts. Categories I and II will include all empirical, experimental, differential, quantitative, taxonomic, statistical or testing proposals in their respective areas.

Category III will include all descriptive, historical, literary, aesthetic, critical, analytic or synthesis proposals in their respective areas.

Guidelines to be used are those of the external agency to which the proposal will eventually be submitted.

Faculty in all units of the university are being invited to submit research proposals for the competition. A prospectus is due in the Office of Research and Projects by Feb. 3, 1978.

The final proposal is due by 5 p.m. March 3. Awards will be announced by May 31, 1978.

Madison HS Band concert

The Madison Senior High School Band will present its first concert of the school year at 8 p.m. Thursday in the high school auditorium.

Directing the performance will be William F. Ledbetter, director of instrumental music in the Madison School District. Two additional concerts are planned during the winter-spring season, the director said. In Thursday's concert, Diane Palm, a senior band member, will be featured in a piano solo, "The Dream of Olwen" by Charles Williams. She will be accompanied by the band. Christmas selections will be presented in a guest segment by the Madison High School Choral Club, under the direction of Dolores Folkerts. Included on the band concert program will be: "Concert Overture" by Robert G. Johnson; "The Bluebell of Scotland" by LeRoy Anderson; "Green-sleeves," arranged by Alfred Reed; "Gallant Men," a concert march by John Cacavas; "Storm King March" by Walter Finlayson; "Adeste Fideles," arranged by James Ployhar; "Jingle Bells Rhapsody" by J. Pierpont; and "Christmas Music for Winds," arranged by John Cacavas.

Assisting with the arrangements for the concert are members of the Madison Band Parents Club.

Admission is by season ticket, or individual admissions will be available at the door, costing 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students.

Christmas concert at South

"The Most Wonderful Time of the Year" is the theme of Granite City High School's Christmas concert, to be presented by the vocal department Thursday evening. The performance will commence at 8 o'clock Thursday in the South auditorium.

Mrs. Mary Ann Bright, vocal music director, will direct the concert. The public is invited to attend and the cost of admission will be 50 cents per person.

Groups performing are the Advanced Mixed Chorus, Boys Choral, Contando, Girls Glee and the Sixth Hour Mixed Chorus.

Among the seasonal numbers to be presented are "O Come All Ye Faithful"; "The Little Drummer Boy"; "Sleigh Ride"; "Silent Night"; and "Merry Christmas Darling."

Holiday luncheon of Ladies Coterie

A program of Christmas music was the highlight of the annual holiday luncheon of the Ladies Coterie Club held at Central Christian Church, Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. David John, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Lois Billeby who sang several Christmas carols. She was accompanied by Mrs. Hulda Griffith at the piano.

Also featured on the program was Miss Leah Rogers, a student at South High School who played two seasonal selections on the piano. Miss Rogers was the recipient of a summer music scholarship provided by the club.

Following the program a gift exchange was conducted. Those attending the festive yuletide party were Mesdames W. G. Cooley, Alfred Pape, Keith Edwards, Ted Aufderheide, Fred Werner, Ray Horn, Emmett Beeler, Al Stover, E. J. Griffith, C. I. Louis, John Ketter, Fred Haug, Dawson Wade.

Also Mesdames E. F. Reiske, Marvin Eddington, W. G. Cooley, Bonard Maples, Lyndell Hagaman, B. S. Miller, Merlin Hiscott, David Friedman, Clarence Bortner, Ray Henley, James Fox, John Gordon and Jack Cormier.

Quad-City weddings and engagements

MRS. RANDY BIGGERSTAFF, the former Miss Sue Ann Knobloch who was married in an evening ceremony at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cletus A. Knobloch, 3108 Wayne Ave.

Sue Ann Knobloch weds Randy Lee Biggerstaff

St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ was the scene of the wedding of Miss Sue Ann Knobloch of Granite City, and Randy Lee Biggerstaff, Creve Coeur, Mo., on Nov. 26.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cletus A. Knobloch, 3108 Wayne Ave. Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Dever P. Biggerstaff, reside in Lakeland, Fla.

Bouquets of white and maroon flowers intermingled with greenery adorned the altar and burning tapers in candelabra illuminated the sanctuary for the double ring ceremony performed at 7 p.m. by the Rev. Ed Sulerite.

Mrs. Edna Waters, an aunt of the bride, was the soloist. Nuptial selections included "Trumpet Voluntary," "The Lord's Prayer," "Wedding Song" and "Eich Liebe Dich."

Bridal attendants included Miss Maryellen Knobloch, a sister of the bride, Miss Judy Ward, Miss Anne Wilson, Miss Shirley Harre and Mrs. Vicky Copeland, a sister of the groom.

The groom chose Lieutenant Steven Underwiler as best man, John Knobloch, a brother of the bride, Bill Cochran and Charles Farmley completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a full length white organza Empire silhouette gown designed with a lace bodice and lace motifs applied on the full skirt which extended into a full sweep train. She carried a cascade bouquet of maroon and white roses.

The honor attendant and bridesmaids selected cranberry velvet dresses complemented with matching jackets trimmed with maroon fur.

Each held a bouquet of white and cranberry roses.

The newly married Mr. and Mrs. Biggerstaff received guests at a reception given at the Venice-Madison American Legion Hall. The groom's parents entertained the wedding party at a dinner given at the Steak and Ale Restaurant in St. Louis, following the church rehearsal.

A graduate of Granite City High School, the bride also graduated from Eastern Illinois University. She was a member of the Honor Society and Kappa Omicron Phi and is now a home economics teacher at North High School.

The groom was graduated from Parkway in St. Louis and the University of Missouri at Columbia. He was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity and is presently athletic trainer at the St. Louis Sports Medicine Clinic.

They are residing in Creve Coeur, Mo., after a wedding trip to St. Thomas and the Virgin Islands.

Angle family holds party

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Angle, Rural Route One, Granite City, and Mrs. E. F. Angle Sr., entertained guests at a holiday party held in their home.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Angle Jr., and sons, Wally, Danny, Robbie and Timmy, Jerry Angle of Carbondale, Ill., Mrs. Don Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Diel of Edwardsville and children, Sheila, Kevin and Curt, Mr. and Mrs. Jim White and children Jimmy, Lori and Shelley Kay, Letha, Orville, Kathy and Johnny Angle, Joan Angle Stephens and her fiancé Jim Muir of Venice, Olivia Burnett, Linda and Kim, Gary Roach, a cousin of the Angle family, Sharon, Kenny, Paula and Christy Hurdley of Rochester, Ill., and Jesse, Bev, Brian, Jeff and Jill Groves of Jacksonville, Ill.

ENGAGED, Miss Kathy Ann Lawson and Rodney Thomas Bloese of Woodstock, Ill., whose engagement is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lawson, 3009 Yale Ave. A July 29 wedding is planned.

Bloese-Lawson engagement

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lawson, 3009 Yale Ave., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Kathy Ann Lawson to Rodney Thomas Bloese.

The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bloese of Woodstock, Ill. He is a 1969 graduate of Woodstock Community High School and a 1973 graduate of the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana. He is presently employed as a geologist with the Army Corps of Engineers in St. Louis.

Miss Lawson graduated in 1976 from Granite City High School South and is now attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. She is working at Lovejoy Library at SIU.

Plans are being completed by the betrothed couple and their families for a July 29 wedding to be solemnized at Our Lords Lutheran Church in Collinsville.

APRIL BRIDE-ELECT, Miss Laura Helen Groboski whose engagement to Walter Lee Brasfield is being announced by her father, Stanley Groboski, 3133 Aubrey Ave. She also is a daughter of the late Mrs. Mildred Groboski. An April 8 wedding is planned.

Laura Groboski is betrothed

The engagement of Miss Laura Helen Groboski, a daughter of Stanley Groboski, 3133 Aubrey Ave. and the late Mrs. Mildred Groboski, and Walter Lee Brasfield is being announced by her father.

Parents of the prospective groom, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brasfield, reside at 2824

Dogwood Drive. He is employed at Reilly Tar and Chemical Corp. and is a graduate of Granite City High School South.

Miss Groboski is also a South High School graduate and presently works at the Pizza Hut.

The engaged couple are completing plans for an April 8 wedding.

Nancy Ann Ropac marries Dr. Larry Herbert Rapp

Miss Nancy Ann Ropac, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Ropac, 3300 Colgate Place, became the bride of Dr. Larry Herbert Rapp, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rapp, 3720 Cargill Road Friday evening, at Hope Lutheran Church.

The Rev. David Fielding officiated at the candlelight ceremony at 7 o'clock. A program of selected wedding music was provided by organist, Albert Froelich.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Ropac wore a long white Qiana gown featuring an Empire bodice, high neckline and long fitted sleeves. The bodice was accented with a cameo inset of lace and pearls.

Venise lace defined the high rise waistline, formed long tapered cuffs on the sleeves and encircled the hemline and chapel train.

A matching Juliet cap held in place her fingertip veil of bridal illusion and she held a colonial bouquet of pink and white bridi roses intermingled with baby's breath.

Honor attendant was Dr. Josephine LaRocca and the bridesmaids included Mrs. Bill Mank, Mrs. Jack Hehn and Miss Linda Jakovac, a cousin of the bride.

The attendants chose formal length pink knit polyester Empire dresses fashioned with long sleeves, cowl necklines and draped effect in the back.

Each carried an arrangement of pink roses, snow crystal pom-poms and baby's breath.

The groom chose his brother, Dr. Rapp as best man. Groomsmen were John Ropac, a brother of the bride, Alan Koester and Robert Willmings.

Escorting the guests to their seats were Dr. Gary Clemens and Dr. Robert Froelich.

Miss Linda Peterson registered the guests at a reception held at the Collinsville Holiday Inn, immediately following the ceremony.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted at the Round Table Restaurant in Collinsville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ropac selected a delicate pink full length gown designed with a V-neckline, enhanced with a scroll band, Empire waist and fitted sleeves.

Mrs. Rapp, mother of the groom, was attired in a floor length dress created in an apricot Qiana with a jewel neckline.

The bride received a B.S. degree in education from Eastern Illinois University where she was a member of DECEMBER BRIDE, Mrs. Larry Herbert Rapp who was married in a candlelight ceremony Friday evening at Hope Lutheran Church. Formerly Miss Nancy Ann Ropac the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Ropac, 3300 Colgate Place.

Delta Zeta Sorority. She is presently a teacher at Johnson School.

Dr. Rapp graduated from Southern Illinois University with a B.S. degree in biology and received a D.D.S. degree from the University of Illinois.

He now practices dentistry in Collinsville.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Dr. Russell Gertsch and Dr. Bill Gonn both of Chicago, Dr. and Mrs. Dane Kinsinger, Morton, Ill., Dr. Mark Flannigan, Harrisburg, Ill., Dr. and Mrs. Gary Clemens, Joliet, Ill., Robert Willmings, Decatur, Ill., and Dr. Josephine LaRocca of Springfield, Ill.

Pre-wedding party fetes couple

A pre-wedding party in honor of Miss Rita Anne Ahlers and James Edward Zaruba was given at the Nameoki Recreation Center, last week.

Red and white streamers and wedding bells decorated the hall and a lovely wedding cake on a pedestal plate, centered the gift table. Small wicker baskets filled with mints and decorated swans accented the guest tables. The swans were later given as prizes.

Mrs. Margaret Pithers offered the blessing and refreshments were served by Mrs. Patty Zaruba, Mrs. Lucy Ubeck, Miss Jo Ann Stout and Mrs. Betty Jean Zaruba.

Those attending were Mesdames Nancy J. Harrell, Mary Louise Harrell and Anthony Harrell, Sue Blattner, Cathy Urbeck, Marion Winkle, Mary Rita Ahlers, Mary Scarborough, Justine Thornton, Carleen Wasylak, Kathy Winkle, Anne Metz, Katie Zaruba, Linda Carter, Marion Willard, Patty Atkins, Mary Sido, Connie Ahlers.

Also Mesdames June Bender, Linda Ahlers, Joyce Zitta, Gladys Koshier, Gladys Asadorian, Iva Harrell, Glenda Schaus, Josephine Uram, Dorothy Wydra, Yarmilla Zaruba, Debbie Pithers, Helen C. Santiago, Carmen Grider, Marie Carter, and Misses Barbara Koshier, Lisa Harrell, Rita Harrell, Diane Hudzik and Robin Scarborough.

Mrs. Owens hosts dinner for family

Mrs. Evie Owens entertained at a dinner party during the Thanksgiving holidays for her six children, their families and several friends.

The dinner was held at the Owens home, 625 Lincoln Ave., Venice.

Among the guests were Mrs. Owens' sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Joe (Pat) Barnes of Austin, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Steve (Shirley) Marshall and children, Tammy and Stevie of Eagle Grove, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Tom (Bonnie) Grimes and sons, John and Brian, and Mr. and Mrs. Doug (Bea) Harvey and daughters, Debbie and Barbara.

Truth Circle hears Mrs. Lane

The December meeting of Truth Circle of Nidderhaus United Methodist Church was held Thursday evening in the church parlor as plans were finalized for forthcoming events.

Circle Leader Mrs. Shirley Lane led the group in a seasonal responsive reading program entitled, "You May Have The Joy Belles," interspersed with singing of Christmas carols related to the fact that in the hustle and bustle of shopping and parties, people forget the angel's story of Christ's birth. The members agreed to send gifts during the holidays to shut-in members and were reminded of the Charge Conference tonight. The congregation dinner on Dec. 11 and the general meeting when officers of the United Methodist Women will be installed for the 1978 year is set for Dec. 13, it was announced.

Mrs. Lane served refreshments to Mesdames Gladys Wallace, Ruth Purkey, Lucy Weaver, Fern Hahn, Pauline Cox, Grace Paddock, Betty Williams, Wanda Groothuis, Pauline Gushoff and Ruby Corbett. The January meeting will be in the church parlor with Mrs. Groothuis as hostess, it was noted.

Secretaries hear Jim Reid

Jim Reid, Industrial Arts instructor at Granite City High School North, was the guest speaker at a meeting last week of the Granite City Association of Educational Secretaries, held at South High School.

He gave a presentation on electrical repairs and explained the operation of the fuse box. Mrs. Helen Favier introduced the speaker and Mrs. Lucille Caban, president, presided at the business session.

Plans were announced for the group's Christmas party to be held at Tony's Restaurant and the "bosses night" observance set for April 20 at Sunset Hills Country Club.

Hostesses for the evening were Irene Hatcher, Dorothy Luckert, Berta Millman and Mrs. Favier.

Others present were Mary Davis, Millie Chandler, Alice Campbell, Wanda Page, Dorothy Luckert, Juanita Craycraft, Gladys Wallace and Betty Williams.

The January meeting will be held at Coolidge Junior High School, according to Mrs. Caban.

Tri-City Park Tabernacle event

Danny Sinacori, a composer, singer and pianist, will present a special program at Tri-City Park Tabernacle, Clark Street and Maryville Road, at 7 p.m. Sunday, it was announced today.

The Rev. Gordon Nelson, Tri-City Park pastor, has invited the public to hear the gifted minister, who now makes his home near Peoria.

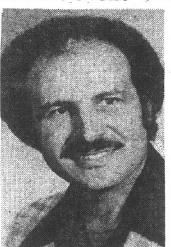

The Rev. Sinacori has served as associate pastor at Calvary Temple in Springfield, Ill., and the First Assembly in Peoria.

For many years he traveled with several leading quartets, such as the Keystones, Mariners and Viscounts, playing the piano and singing.

More recently, he played the piano for the late Kathryn Kuhlman and also was accompanist for Big John Hall, the Rev. Nelson said.

The Rev. Sinacori has appeared on television and has composed numerous songs, including the popular favorites, "At Any Moment" and "It's Great Day to Serve the Lord."

His wife, Chris, a talented singer in her own right, frequently joins her husband in programs, together with their 6-year-old daughter, Danelle.

Mrs. Maxwell to host party

Christmas events were the main topic of discussion by members of Chapter KU, P.E.O. Sisterhood, at a meeting hosted by Mrs. Ruth McCarty, 1907 Johnson Road, last week.

President Mrs. Dale Rea presided and announced each one is to bring Christmas candy to the next meeting for delivery at the P.E.O. Home.

Arrangements were also discussed for the chapter yule party to be held at the next meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert Maxwell.

Altar Society sets Christmas party

Final arrangements of the annual Christmas party for the women of St. Elizabeth Church parish were discussed at a meeting of the Altar Society conducted by Mrs. Mary Evalyne Yencho, president.

She announced the dinner party will begin at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, in the school cafeteria.

Other seasonal events discussed were the Christmas party for the residents at Colonial Haven Nursing Home, set for Friday, Dec. 9, and the student party at the school on Dec. 21.

The president also submitted a report on the Christmas bazaar. She introduced a new member, Mrs. Jesse Foley and guests Mrs. Judy Davis and Mrs. June Finley.

After the business session a demonstration was presented by representatives of the Interstate Supply Co., on micro wave ovens. Giving the presentation was Julie Lorentz and Glen Steek. They also awarded a prize of oven cookware to Father Henry Schmidt.

Mrs. Ann Palsgrove and Mrs. Anne Pared were as chairmen of the hostess committee. They awarded the madonna prize to Mrs. Pam Ames and the quilt of the month to Leo Bueher.

FARMERS URGED TO CERTIFY CROPS SOON

"All farmers in Madison County who certify their crop and land use acreage on all 1977 cropland will be eligible to participate in 1978 program benefits," Lee Rogers, director of the Madison County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, reports.

"This includes farmers who did not have allotments in past years."

Certifying refers to reporting acreage on a field by field basis, Rogers added, and applies to farmers who wish to participate in the voluntary farm programs. All the reports must be received in the county office within the next few weeks to allow time for the normal crop acreage to be established for each farm by the county ASC committee.

Madison County is divided into three sections: Granite City, Parochial and Venice.

Granite City section includes the following: Tuesday — Yon Mazer, slow, cream bread, peanut butter cake.

Wednesday — Creamed turkey with biscuit, mashed potatoes, green beans, vanilla pudding with cookie.

Thursday — Hamburger on bun, French fries, apple crisp.

has done a super job." It was the Warrior offense... and Terry Angle, in particular... that was the story Saturday night. The 6-4 center pumped in 30 big points to lead all scorers in the game.

"Without a doubt, it was Terry's best effort of the season," said Detendorf. "He looked like his old self out there."

"But, as Detendorf and Angle were quick to point out, it was far from a one-man show. "Jeff Tretter played just a super ball game," said Detendorf.

"He really didn't have a great night scoring, but I'll bet that at least half of Angle's baskets came as a direct result of passes from Tretter."

"It was one of the best demonstrations of passing I've ever seen in high school basketball."

The fourth quarter got a little more exciting. The Panthers of Jerseyville climbed within striking range of the Warriors, but Scott managed to confuse us just enough of that "killer instinct" to put the hosts away to the tune of 56-43.

never looked back. They led by four at the first quarter stop, 16-12, by seven at the half, 32-25, and by a whopping 30 at the end of the third period, 53-23.

Six of those last eight Steeler points in the third quarter were scored on technical free throws. Gregory voiced his displeasure a little too vehemently, according to the officials, and the Steelers cashed in on it.

BUT THE STORY OF the evening wasn't the Steelers' technical fouls. It was the shooting of Page.

"I wasn't surprised that he came up with such a good night," said Ohlendorf. "He's been a sure shooter since he put the uniform on in the seventh grade."

"And that's only been three years ago. (Page is a sophomore at North.)"

Page's first points of the night came on a 15-foot shot from the right side. His last came on two free throws. In between, there were many drives, jump-shots and free throws for him.

But Ohlendorf knows his team has a long way to go.

"We've got a week before our next game (Altamont next Saturday). We need to hit the boards more and continue to improve our enthusiasm."

"I think that's one area where we greatly improved tonight," he added. "In the first two games (Joplin to Belleville East and Wood River), we just didn't seem to have the right attitude. But tonight, I think we got it going."

Gregory voiced the same needs for his pioneers. "We've just got to hit the boards more," he said.

"We aren't real tall, but we've got good jumpers. Another thing we really need to acquire is patience."

"It seemed tonight that we'd get in too much of a hurry to run the break and wouldn't let it develop."

Ohlendorf pinpointed the whole thing. "Tonight, we were putting the ball in the hole when you do that a lot, you'll probably win."

Health impact group to meet

The Madison County Local Impact Committee of the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency will meet on Dec. 13 in the Annex Lounge of St. Joseph's Hospital, 915 E. 5th St. Alton, at 7 p.m. The meeting is free and open to the public.

A discussion on technologically innovative equipment in health care will be the main item on the agenda.

The presentation will be made by Philip Kari, a staff member of the Health Systems Agency, followed by formal reactions by Dan Szezia, a consumer member of the committee, and by two physicians. It then will be open for discussion and questions by the group.

The agency recently completed a five-year plan for health care for its service area. Technologically innovative equipment is addressed in the chapter of the plan that deals with acute hospital care.

The group's 12-chapter plan, known as a Health Systems Plan, or HSP, will be the basis for many decisions about health care and the allocation of health care resources in this region in the coming years. The plan was approved by the agency's volunteer 60-member board of directors on Nov. 30.

County local impact committees were formed by the agency in May in order to provide more opportunity for residents to become involved in health planning and health resources development.

The committees have been meeting monthly ever since. Szezia, of Granite City, is the temporary chairman of the Madison County committee.

For further information on the meeting, Quadt-Citians may contact Judy Moser, coordinator of information services of St. Joseph's Hospital, at 453-5282 or Virginia M. Lawton at the Health Systems Agency, (314) 241-5810.

Vadalabene is honored

Five Illinois legislators instrumental in getting a new farmland valuation bill enacted were honored Friday at the Illinois Farm Bureau annual meeting, held in St. Louis.

IFB President Harold B. Steele presented plaques to Senators Jerry Joyce (D-Reddick), Sen. Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) and Ken McMillan (R-Bushnell) and Representatives Gerald Bradley (D-Bloomington) and Harold J. (R-Frederick).

The Illinois Farm Bureau was active in formulating and supporting the legislation, which is designed to help stabilize rising farmland property taxes. The measure passed the General Assembly and was signed into law by Governor James Thompson during the summer. It takes effect this year for taxes payable in 1978.

Steals revolver from store owner

Cleo Green, owner of Green's Confectionery, 2500 Denver Ave., reported a man leaved over the counter and stole his revolver with a four-inch barrel at 1:05 p.m. Sunday.

The store operator said two black men and a black woman were in the store and one man, about 25 years old wearing a brown coat and brown flap-style hat, threw several coins on the counter with some falling over to the back.

The man said a rare coin was missing and attempted to come around the counter, but Green picked up his revolver and told the man to stay back.

The second man purchased a cake, and while Green was busy attending to another customer, the first man reached over the counter and took his revolver, Green said.

SUMMER CAMPS STARTING TO RECRUIT '78 STAFFS

Teachers, college students, high school students and others looking for summer camp work should begin their search now, says Jan Perkins, extension adviser, Madison County. Most camps begin recruiting staffs in January and have most of their positions filled by April.

Western 4-H Camp, five miles south of Jacksonville (Rural Route 1, Jacksonville 62650) on the east shore of Lake Jacksonville has jobs available for the summer months.

Program specialists are needed in swimming, arts and crafts, nature, recreation and nursing. The camp also needs kitchen helpers, she noted.

STOLEN CAR BURNED

A 1974 Caprice stolen Friday night from outside the home of Harley Barton, 725 Twenty-Sixth Place, was recovered by Madison County deputy sheriff's deputies at 4:40 p.m. Sunday on Franco Lane, between Old Alton and St. Thomas roads. The vehicle had been destroyed by fire.

Drouth application deadline Dec. 30

John L. Smith, Illinois district director of the Small Business Administration, warned today that disaster victims in 50 Illinois counties have only until Dec. 30 to seek relief under an economic injury disaster declaration.

The 50 are covered by a declaration which was reopened Nov. 15, 1976, but which closed last July 29.

"The deadline for the reopened declaration is Dec. 30," Smith said. "This must be considered firm at this time; I would urge all who feel that they qualify for aid to make application as soon as possible."

Smith said the declaration authorizes SBA to make or guarantee long-term loans to businesses and farmers affected by the disasters. He stressed that only businesses and farmers are eligible for this SBA aid.

The Madison County designation is for the May 1-Aug. 25, 1976, drought.

'REJOICING' THEME OF WOMEN'S SOCIETY

The Women's Missionary Society of Cedar View General Baptist Church met, with the president, Mrs. Jennie Hickerson, in charge. Theme for the evening was "Rejoice in Hope."

In the business session, the group voted to make Christmas gifts for residents of the Anna Henry Nursing Home, Edwardsville, to be presented at the December visit.

The love gift inspiration was given by Shirley Evans, entitled "Rejoice Evermore."

Loetta Pulley gave the lesson, "Herein, Hope Rejoice," Virginia Vollmar gave the devotion, "The Joy of the Lord is My Strength."

Mrs. Betty Smith and Louise Van Hoose served seasoned refreshments to those mentioned and Gladys Crump, Pat Dickerson, Marie Shickler, Ruth Clifton, Jean Williams and Arlita Hendricks.

MOST COOPERATIVE. Herman O. Schroeder, president of the Granite City Board of Realtors, presenting a trophy to Elaine Prince, sales associate from Granite City Realty, for being the most cooperative salesperson in the Granite City Board of Realtors. The other recipient of this award, Walter Greathouse, was not present.

Candidate Vincent sees manpower issue

Candidate for sheriff in the Democratic Party include Michael Richard Vincent, 30, Granite City. He and his wife have one child.

Communications officer at the Madison County sheriff's department, he attended Granite City and Collinsville schools and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, receiving a bachelor of science in education degree, with a minor in sociology.

His experience includes seven years in law enforcement with the Madison County sheriff's department under Sheriff Fraundorff and Sheriff Maeras and four years in the U.S. Army Security Agency with top secret clearance.

A member of the 1966 Illinois state basketball champion team at Collinsville, he holds Illinois and Missouri teaching certification.

Vincent has been guest lecturer at McKendree College on law enforcement and guest panelist at the 1977 Law Enforcement Data Systems Conference held in Springfield.

He is serving his third term on the negotiating committee for sheriff deputies in collective bargaining with the Madison County government and is a Little League coach for baseball and soccer.

Vincent comments, "I feel that after being in the county government system for seven years, I understand how to operate within it."

"The sheriff's department has many problems and I feel I understand these problems and can correct them."

"The next sheriff must be able to run an effective office with possibly no help from the County Board. The present sheriff has been turned down on requests to the board since 1972 for more men."

"So, we must look at what we can do to increase the patrol division. Using the present staff, if I were Sheriff tomorrow, I would increase the patrol division by 10 men."

"I would rotate the shifts, with an overlapping shift during the prime crime time."

"Overlapping the shifts would decrease overtime pay, thus allowing me the possibility of adding more men."

"Another area would be to set up a crime prevention bureau. For this I would seek a grant of 50 percent, with five percent matching county funds."

"If the grant were turned down, it is possible that with savings from other areas, this bureau would be enacted."

"The people of Madison County must choose March 21 the person they feel can do the job. I hope that person is Michael R. Vincent."

Patchworkers plan party

The Patchworkers 4-H Club finalized plans for a Christmas party on Thursday, Dec. 15 at St. Elizabeth school hall beginning with caroling at 6:30 p.m. Joan Krystopa will serve as chairman of the affair.

Members met at the school cafeteria on Thursday evening for a monthly business session conducted by Mary Loftus, president.

Jennie Little led the pledge of allegiance and Michelle Loftus recited the 4-H pledge. Eighteen members responded to roll call by telling "what they like best about Christmas."

A demonstration was given by Mickey Loftus on "How To Take Care of a Camera" and by Patti Grebel on "Using Acrylics for Painting."

Refreshments were served by Karrie Frazier, Karl Winters and Sue Burnett.

Patti Grebel, recreation chairman, led the group in a game.

Others in attendance were Paula Bills, Doreen Griffin, Janet Jachino, Christy Kessler, Wendy McIlvoy, Amy Patterson, Colleen Powderly, and Karen and Kristy Toussaint.

Mothers present were Joyce Jachino, Rose Krystopa, Pearl Powderly, Sharon Loftus and leaders, Carol Kessler and Marsha McIlvoy.

The next business meeting will be, Jan. 5 at St. Elizabeth Hall at 7 p.m.

Walter Schlemer, president of the Illinois Association of Realtors and installing officer; Marjorie Shields, secretary-treasurer; Bernard C. Royce, director; Carl Hoffmann, vice-president, and Ray M. Kaegel, director.

Women's Division children's party

The Women's Division of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce will stage a special party for children from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 10, at the Eagles Aerie 1126, located at 2558 Madison Ave.

Mrs. Mary Sedekum, chairman, said each member will sponsor a child to the party, which will feature refreshments, gifts and entertainment by a clown.

Preliminary plans also are being made for the division's annual spring dinner-dance. The event will take place April 29 at the Sunset Hills Country Club.

Mrs. Propes hosts holiday meeting

A miniature Christmas tree, decorated with tiny ornaments, centered the dining table in the home of Mrs. Luella Propes, 2826 Iowa St., for the holiday meeting of the Thursday Evening Bunco Club.

Those who excelled in the games and won prizes were Velma Radefeld, Myrtle Bruns, Grace Parmley, Lorine Menzies and Celeste Johnson.

Later in the evening the hostess served refreshments to the prize winners and to Angie Hartman and Alice Koesterer.

The members completed plans to attend the Plantation Dinner Theater on Dec. 15 at its Christmas party. The next regular session will be held later this month with Mrs. Parmley, 2827 Iowa St.

Admitted at hospital

James R. Legate, 32, of 1600 Third St., Madison, told officers at 2:40 a.m. Sunday that he was attacked by three men outside an address in the 2000 block of Grand Avenue.

Legate, who said he had been visiting a friend prior to the attack, was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital with superficial cuts to both cheeks and multiple small lacerations to the lower face and lips.

He was admitted for observation.

Man robbed of $60, beaten

Larry Sorenson, 2431 Lincoln Ave., reported being beaten about the face by a man who robbed him of $60 cash and papers, while walking in the parking lot at Brunswick Tri-Mor Bowl at 12:15 a.m. Saturday.

Sorenson was walking toward his car, parked at the far end of the lot, when the robber jumped on him, striking him in the face, cutting his right eyelid and injuring the left eye, he said. He was unable to identify his assailant.

*Four C group plans breakfast with santa

Plans are being made by the Concerned Citizens for Children's Culture (Four Cs) to hold a "breakfast with Santa" program for Venice children 12 years of age and under.

The event is scheduled to be held in the Venice school gym on Saturday, Dec. 24, beginning at 10 a.m.

Although the event is free to Venice children, tickets will be required to attend.

Tickets will be distributed door to door, in Venice only prior to the event.

Bags of candy are being provided each child by Venice city officials and will be distributed at the breakfast. A ticket also will be needed for a child to receive the candy, and these tickets, too, will be distributed door to door prior to the event.

The children will be treated to chocolate milk and doughnuts and will be entertained by Santo and Sparky, Christmas clowns. Each child will have a chance to meet Santa Claus personally.

A community choir is being formed to help entertain the children. The choir is open to any Venice resident who would enjoy singing.

Persons interested are being asked to call the Rev. John W. Ratcliff at 877-5487 for more information on the choir.

On Saturday, Dec. 10, members of the Four Cs will be going door to door to solicit free will donations from persons who would like to help defray costs of the program. Venice residents will be asked to check for Four Cs identification before making such a donation.

Mrs. Barbara Harrell is president of the Concerned Citizens and Rev. Ratcliff is special project coordinator for the group.

SANTS AND THE "FOUR Cs" Santa Claus stopped by the Venice Recreation Center Thursday evening to meet with Mrs. Barbara Harrell and the Rev.

John W. Ratcliff, representing Concerned Citizens for Children's Culture, and plan a Venice breakfast event.

Dragged by truck

James Wheatley, 35, of 2258 Edison Ave., was injured when a pickup truck on which he was working started moving, dragging him a few feet Thursday.

Wheatley said he was working on the carburetor of a truck at his home. While bending over the fender, he started the engine from the engine compartment, not realizing the truck was in gear.

He was dragged about three feet, twisting his back.

After Wheatley got free from the truck, it crashed through the rear wall of his garage, went out the garage door, crossed the alley and damaged a neighbor's fence.

About 10 feet of the picket fence in the rear yard at the home of Clyde R. Walker, 2259 State St., was knocked down before the truck came to a stop.

The pickup truck is owned by Erwin Mabry, 910 1/2 Niedringhaus Ave.

Wheatley went to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 2:05 p.m. Thursday. A strain to his back was diagnosed, and he was released after treatment.

Social Security to 39,000 in county

How much social security benefits were Madison County Residents being paid at the start of 1977? According to figures newly released, this county's residents were receiving $8,118,598 each month.

Social security benefits can be paid to retired persons age 62 and over, to workers who become severely disabled before age 65 and to survivors of deceased workers. In addition, monthly checks are also paid to certain dependents of a retired or disabled worker.

Of the 39,138 social security beneficiaries living in Madison County, 19,700 are retired workers and 3,120 are disabled workers.

Another 4,410 persons are receiving benefits as the wives or husbands of retired or disabled workers. Widows, widowers and dependent parents of deceased workers number 6,276.

In Madison County, 13,800 people under age 65 and 23,258 people age 65 and older are receiving monthly social security benefits.

Of the total beneficiaries, 13,479 are men, 20,027 are women and 5,632 are children.

Statewide, over 1.5 million retired workers receive an average monthly benefit of over $328 million.

Anyone wishing to file for social security benefits can call

Frank Durell dies at 78

Frank Durell, 78, 2827 E. 25th St., a retired millwright, died at 12:10 p.m. Thursday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. He had been ill for two months and was hospitalized for two weeks.

Mr. Durell retired as a millwright foreman from Monsanto Chemical Co., St. Louis, after 25 years of service. Born in Charleston, Ill., Mr. Durell resided in Granite City for 72 years.

He was a member of St. John United Church of Christ and also Masonic Lodge 835, the Low Twelve Club and Venice Odd Fellows Lodge 719.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Carrie Durell; one son, Frank Durell of Granite City; a daughter, Mrs. Thomas (Patricia) Lauder of Alleman, Iowa; nine grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held here today. Details are given in the obituary column.

Wage rules for baby sitters, housekeepers

Beginning Jan. 1, 1978, the new minimum wage will be $2.65 an hour. Will baby-sitters and housekeepers be covered by the rule? Maybe, says University of Illinois Family Economics Specialist Joan Bonnett.

If your baby-sitter spends more than 20 percent of the time on the job doing a task other than household work, the minimum wage must be paid. The same rule applies to companies for aged people or people unable to care for themselves.

But, Miss Bonnett continues, you are not required to pay the minimum wage to a baby-sitter who spends only a few hours caring for your children while you go out for dinner or to see a movie.

Up from the present $2.30, the $2.65 rate will apply to some domestic help such as maids, housekeepers and yard workers. Domestic employees qualifying for the wage raise are those who are paid more than $50 by any one employer in a calendar quarter or anyone who works more than eight hours per week in one or more homes.

About a domestic employee may be eligible for overtime pay. For all hours over 40 hours that an employee works in one on the job, the employer can collect one-and-one-half times the regular wage that is paid.

If an employee agrees, part of the wages paid can include the cost of food and lodging furnished by the employer. The government will usually accept deductions up to $3 a day for food and up to $15 a week for lodging.

The $3 food value includes 75 cents for breakfast, $1 for lunch and $1.25 for dinner. To increase these limits, an employer must keep records and be able to justify the added value claimed for food and lodging provided.

Talks, play for Venice Parents and Teachers

The Venice School Parent-Teacher Association will meet Wednesday, Dec. 7, at 7 p.m. in the gym. Mrs. Alvester Salmond, president, has announced. In addition to regular business, a special program has been planned by Mrs. Evelyn Dake, media specialist, Mrs. Mariann Hay, speech and language specialist, and Mrs. Lena /Rush, kindergarten teacher.

Pre-school pupils will sing

"Jingle Bells" and perform an action story entitled "Jolly, Jolly Santa."

Kindergarten pupils will present a Christmas play called "Santa's Ho, Ho, Ho." Reindeer, soldiers and dolls will try to help Santa get his voice back, but it is "Mat, the mouse," who is successful in restoring Santa's "Ho, ho, ho," the faculty reports.

The public is being invited.

Police officer hurt in crash

A Granite City policeman sustained minor injuries when the squad car he was driving was involved in an accident with the auto of Henrietta Schienschang, 1387 Pontoon Road, in the 3700 block of Nameoki Road at 7:55 a.m. Friday.

Patrolman David Polivick, 26, said he was using his patrol car's red lights and siren enroute to a call when the accident occurred. He said he was driving northbound in the inside lane and Henrietta Schienschang was in front of him. She attempted to move to the curb lane, but then saw another car in that lane, so she applied her brakes.

The patrol car skidded on the wet pavement into the rear of her car, according to official reports.

The impact knocked her car out of control and it struck and damaged a tree in the front yard of the home of Roberta Lambert, 3729 Nameoki Road.

Patrolman Polivick went to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for abrasions to his left knee and several contusions. X-rays were taken and he was released.

Two injured

Autos traveling in the opposite direction, operated by Barbara A. Kimbrell, 3011 Myrtle Ave., and Kathleen Summer, 2226a Lee Ave., collided in the 2000 block of Washington Avenue at 2:35 a.m. Sunday.

The collision caused the Kimbrell auto, struck by the Summer car, to veer into a third vehicle belonging to Sandra Clayton, 2873 Washington Ave., parked outside her home.

Miss Summer went to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 3 a.m. Sunday, where she was treated for abrasions to the left leg and had x-rays taken of the leg, facial bones, skull and spine before being released.

Miss Kimbrell also was reported injured.

Timely tips on Christmas lighting safety

Here are some ideas for a safe holiday while enjoying your Yuletide lighting.

Don't plug all your tree lights into the same outlet. Avoid long extension cords.

Don't overload the circuit that feeds your decorating lights. Turn off other room lights when your tree is lit.

If you have a natural tree, keep it moist at the base and have it treated with flame retardant.

Look for the UL (Underwriters' Laboratories) seal on every string of lights and other fixtures.

Check the wires on every strand of lights for worn or cracked insulation. This is a sure sign of trouble and the string should be discarded.

Don't use flimsy, easily flammable decorations that could be ignited by contact with a lighted bulb.

For outdoor lighting, string your lights from a grounded outlet. Be sure to use plastic film where extension cords join. And use cords and fixtures approved for outdoor use.

Timely idea:

use timers on both indoor and outdoor decorating lights to enjoy your lighting when you want it and to conserve energy, automatically, when the lighting isn't needed.

IP ILLINOIS POWER

Impact of consumer movement on farms

The American farmer must be involved in the "consumer revolution" when decisions that affect agriculture are made, Illinois Farm Bureau President Harold B. Steele told the Farm Bureau's 63rd annual meeting Thursday in St. Louis.

In his annual address, Steele said the consumer movement has often led to excesses in government regulation — bases of "hunting gnats with an elephant gun."

"In reality, consumerism is evolving to nothing more than efforts by those in government — call them bureaucrats, professional planners, or what have you — to make decisions regulating how we should live."

But he added that consumerism "is with us as part of our lives. We farmers must keep in mind that we, too, are consumers. We are shirking our duty and responsibility if we don't participate in the process."

Becoming involved in the political process through voting, close monitoring of what is happening in the political arena, and office-holding by farm people themselves are ways to make agriculture's voice heard, Steele said.

"For the farm family of Dad, Mom and the youngsters, it is not enough in today's society to center all of our energies into the management of that farming operation. We must broaden our horizons, to local, state, national and international affairs."

Efforts continue to expand consumerism in the government, Steele noted, with the "consumer revolution" now firmly entrenched in the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman was named to her present post after serving as executive director of the Consumer Federation of America.

Others holding key positions in the agriculture department do not have agricultural backgrounds, Steele said. He added, "In selecting many of his staff, Secretary of Agriculture Robert Bergland appears to have emphasized consumer interest at the expense of agricultural interest."

The Farm Bureau president said one of Mrs. Foreman's latest goals appears to farmers to be "unrealistic government meddling."

Mrs. Foreman supports a move to research the nutritional needs of different segments of society and then determine what levels and types of production are necessary to meet those needs.

She was recently quoted as saying "this will require an ability to translate nutritional needs into production terms. We should know, for example, how much wheat and what kinds of wheat should be produced to insure people with adequate levels of B vitamins."

Steele said: "On paper, in Washington, this may sound like a good plan. But out in the wheat fields it appears to be another case of unrealistic government meddling."

A related example of how consumerism affects agriculture is a report by the Select Senate Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs which urged Americans to eat less meat and fewer eggs. "It was the beginning," Steele said, "in what now appears to be an effort in government to dictate diet to the citizens of this nation."

"The irony of the continuing promotion of so-called consumerism," Steele said, "is that while the concept is relatively new to many, farmers have been responding to the wants and needs of the consumer since the beginning."

"We don't produce a product if we can't sell it in the marketplace. Food production is geared to the message that DEADLINE IS MET for the start of construction of a new Granite City jail. Construction workers for the M. H. Wolfe Co. are seen beginning excavation last week to meet a deadline set by the Economic Development Administration and avoid losing a $744,000 Public Works Act grant. Wolfe was awarded the contract at a special council meeting at which the 14 aldermen voted unanimously. The Wolfe bid of $791,000 as general contractor, added to other costs, brings the total expenditure to $860,496. The jail is being built between the Post Office and the main fire station, 23rd Street and Madison Avenue, the latter visible in the right background. It is expected that the police department will move into the building in the spring of 1979.

Guilty plea to 3 counts consumers send us through their pocketbooks as they decide what commodities to buy," the farm leader said.

He predicted, "The day is coming when the American consumer will rise up and say, 'enough of this bureaucratic approach to consumerism. I want to make my own decisions regarding the clothes I wear, the house I live in, the car I drive and the food I eat.'"

The beginning of a new attitude has been evident in the controversy over efforts to ban an artificial sweetener, Steele said. Most Americans are saying, "That's absurd. I couldn't consume as much saccharin as those laboratory rats if I tried. Keep it on the market; we want and need it," he concluded.

Charles Hileman Sr., 56, of 2330 Lynch Ave., former assistant Granite City fire chief, pleaded guilty Friday morning to three felony charges of theft and is to be sentenced Dec. 29.

Hileman was named by a Madison County grand jury Sept. 7 in three indictments alleging four counts of theft for allegedly obtaining possession of items stolen in burglaries in Tennessee.

One count was dismissed after Hileman pleaded guilty to the other three counts. Under Illinois law, possession of stolen items is classified under the charge of theft.

He pleaded guilty to obtaining control on or about Jan. 8 over three shotguns and a rifle stolen from Harold Baker of Tennessee. Also, that on or about June 22 he obtained control over a coin collection, pistol and holster stolen from Ruth Wilson in Hollow Rock, Tenn.

He also pleaded guilty to obtaining control on or about July 8 over two shotguns and a rifle taken during a second burglary at Ruth Wilson's home.

An investigation indicated control was obtained over the items in a Mitchell motel room. He allegedly surrendered some of the items to police when questioned about them. Some had been sold to other persons and Hileman recovered them for authorities, it was alleged.

He has been free on a $50,000 recognizance bond since his arrest. Hileman resigned from the Granite City Fire Department 38 hours after his indiction and the city pension board convened immediately and granted him a pension amounting to 64 per cent of his regular salary.

He submitted the guilty plea Friday before Circuit Judge Joseph Barr, who ordered the bond continued at $50,000 and granted continuance of the recognizance bond, meaning he did not have to post formal bond.

Barr also ordered a pre-sentence background investigation prior to the Dec. 29 sentencing.

Assistant Madison County State's Attorney Joe Brown said sentences for felony theft range up to three years in prison and a $10,000 fine on each count alleging possession of stolen firearms and four years in prison and a $10,000 fine on a count alleging possession of items with a value exceeding $150.

Workshop on aging

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been awarded a $8,910 grant to conduct an awareness workshop on aging for professionals in aging and graduate educators in communications and the arts.

The grant from the Illinois Department on Aging is being administered by Robert B. Hawkins, professor of speech at SIUE.

The two-day workshop was presented on the SIUE campus Friday and Saturday and will be repeated Dec. 9-10 at the SIUE at Carbondale Medical Center in Springfield and Dec. 16-17 at Northwestern University in Evanston.

Purpose of the workshop is to present concepts of aging to educators and students in communications and the arts, as well as professionals in the field of aging. Curriculum content will include a study of the myths and realities of the aged and of the process of aging, including biological, psychological, and sociological aspects; age-related sensory losses; socialization and learning in the later years; andragogical methods of teaching; and adaptation of curricula in communications and arts courses to the needs and characteristics of older adults.

Volunteers are honored

Mary Kristian and Helen Bergfield, each of whom have donated cumulatively over 7,000 hours of service at St. Elizabeth Hospital, were accorded top honors at the annual adult volunteer appreciation dinner held in November.

One hundred fifty-two men and women who gave 23,258 hours of service last year were recognized at the banquet.

Total hours tabulated represent a 1,069-hour increase over 1976, according to Volunteer Coordinator Becky Slate.

Following the awards presentation by Sister Mary Frances, the Steel City Belles from Granite City High School North gave a musical performance under the direction of Dan Todoroff.

In addition to Sister Frances and Mrs. Slate, program participants included the president, Sister Mary Thomas; social service associate, Sister Mary Louise; and Mrs. Jinny Tuetken, director of public relations and volunteer services.

Special guests included Sisters Marce, Mary George, Geraldine, Ann, Pauline, Mary Williams and Mary Michael. Betsy Slate, granddaughter of the volunteer coordinator, provided piano music before and during the dinner.

Gifts were presented to Clifford Richardson, Corinne McCollum, Lorraine Thebeau, Ruth Kreishok, Helen Bergfield and Eula Davis.

Listed are the honorees and their respective total hours of service:

Damage trucks parked at firm

Lloyd Belcher, owner of L and W Transfer Co., 2398 Washington Ave., informed police at 9:35 a.m. Friday that three trucks parked in a rear lot had been damaged and items were stolen.

Both outside rear view mirrors were taken from a 1965 International truck. The windshield was cracked and two exterior mirrors damaged on a 1969 Chevrolet truck and the thief had broken a lock on a 1972 tractor-trailer truck, entered the trailer section and stole an aluminum dolly, valued at $100, and several furniture pads.

State legislators confer on U. S. policies' effect

State Rep. Joe E. Lucco (D-Edwardsville), chairman of the Illinois Energy Resources Commission, was among more than 200 legislators from throughout the U.S. who participated in a three-day meeting of the National Council of State Legislators state-federal assembly ending Friday in Washington, D.C.

The national energy plan was among proposals discussed that could have impact on state programs and policies, he said. Other topics discussed by the SPA's nine committees in preparation for next year's Congressional session included rural housing, community development, welfare reform, the Carter administration's national urban policy, mass transit and education.

In committee meetings, Lucco with other legislators developed work programs for the coming year and reviewed new policy resolutions.

Representing the Illinois Energy Resources Commission on energy policy, Rep. Lucco informed fellow assembly participants that he "intends to bring various groups together to work on the energy problems facing Illinois. No state or federal issue is more important than development of energy resources."

Stuart Eizenstat, assistant to the president for domestic affairs and policy, and U.S. Senator Daniel Moynihan (D-N.Y.) addressed the group. With more than 900 legislators as members, the assembly determines policies that are used to guide NCSE activities in Washington and to encourage state legislative action.

2 women hurt at flashing lights

Two women sustained injuries in an accident occurring at 2:15 a.m. Sunday at Niedringhaus and Madison Avenues.

Jeanette F. Hoffman, 2221 Missouri Ave., who was traveling west on Niedringhaus, was ticketed for failing to yield the right-of-way on a flashing red light, after her auto collided with the southbound vehicle of Eddie E. Cardin, 3811 Park Lane.

Marcella Cooper, 2215 Illinois Ave., a passenger in the Hoffman car, also was injured.

Pamphlets available from Price

U.S. Rep. Melvin Price has announced that many new government publications are available free from his Washington office.

Among pamphlets which can be ordered by area residents are the Constitution of the United States, "Our Flag," "The Supreme Court," "The Working Congress" and the 1977-78 college debate topic, "Should U.S. Law Enforcement Agencies Have Greater Freedom in the Investigation and/or Prosecution of Felony Crime?"

Also available are consumer publications, "Your Money's Worth in Food" and "Family Fare: A Guide to Good Nutrition," plus HEW's booklet "Your Child From 1 to 6."

Cong. Price said that limited numbers of all these booklets will be available by contacting his office at 2240 Rayburn Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Residents may also request single copies of the 1978 Capital historical calendar and the 1978 Illinois highway map.

Speaker list being offered

An award-winning brochure providing a list of special programs and speakers from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is available to organizations in the metropolitan area.

The brochure, "Learn, Look and Listen," formerly the "Smorgasbord of Talent," is available to clubs, civic organizations, church committees, senior citizen clubs, and homecoming, parade and county fair program planning committees.

The listing of the university speakers' bureau and special programs is now in its fifth year as a community outreach project. According to Annette Mulvaney Graebe, director of the University Information Center, the project has "mushroomed" to a large composite program involving the entire university community.

As a result of past support from 20,000 people in clubs, schools and organizations throughout Illinois and Missouri, the program received a special citation from the Council for Advancement and Support of Education in Washington, D.C., last year. Included are more than 200 university speakers addressing a multitude of topics, including hypnosis, travel, dentistry, gardening and jazz.

More than 70 special programs, including musical ensembles, entertainment troupes, films and tours are ready for booking. Available on-campus activities and services also are listed. Mrs. Graebe said most of the speakers require honorariums but some events are presented free of charge.

The "Learn, Look and Listen" brochure may be obtained at the Information Center, or by mailing a request to Box 15A, SIUE, Edwardsville 62026 or by contacting Annette Graebe or Blanche Davis at 692-2739.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT

The McKendree College Choir will present its 23rd annual Christmas concert Sunday, Dec. 11, in the college gymnasium at Lebanon. The public is being invited. Under the direction of Professor Glenn H. Freiner, the 3 p.m. program will feature excerpts from Handel's "Messiah," selections by Mozart, Saint-Saens, Adam and Pini and a section of "Saint Nicholas" by Benjamin Britten entitled "The Birth of Nicholas."

AUTO WORKERS MEET. Willard Herzog (left) of Granite City, president of Local 1715, United Auto Workers representing A. O. Smith Corp. workers, visits with Robuoshu Ishu, right, president of the Mitoishi Local of the Japanese Auto Workers at a conference in Michigan.

Auto workers hold training seminar

A delegation of 17 Japanese auto workers attended a Region 4, Illinois-Iowa conference of the United Auto Workers held at Black Lake Lodge in Michigan.

Attending from Local 1715, United Auto Workers, representing the A. O. Smith Corp. auto frame plant workers were Willard Herzog, 2304 Hodges Ave., president, and William J. Schaab, Belleville, Local 1715 financial secretary.

The Japanese found to be very fine men. They seem to have a well-functioning union in their country.

"What I like about them was they work hard at making the union movement effective, and seem to be always looking for new ways to improve not only their unions but methods of production," Herzog said.

"I had the occasion to visit at great length with Robuoshu Ishu, leader of the delegation, and found him to be an effective labor leader. He has asked me to visit him in Japan and I am thinking about taking my vacation and visiting him there."

"It would be interesting to see their methods of production and visit some of their unions."

"The Japanese auto worker has benefits very close to, if not equal with, those we have here in the United States," Herzog said.

The week-long labor training conference included such topics as how to be a more effective union representative, labor law for local union presidents, collective bargaining, stewards, roles of the labor leader in arbitration for the local, consumer protection laws, taxes, women's rights, social security, trusts and Medicare.

Herzog announced that steward training will be held in January for Local 1715 to relay the information to shop stewards.

The conference was held at the Walker and May Reuther UAW Family Education Center at Black Lake, Mich., and was dedicated to the late union leader.

On May 9, 1970, a plane carrying them crashed in a nearby woodland on the way to the Black Lake center and both DeMOLAY LEGION OF HONOR is bestowed on 19 active and honorary designates at an investiture program held at the Scottish Rite Cathedral in Belleville. The Egyptian Preceptory was the host, headed by Edward C. Bieser, active member of the DeMolay Supreme Council and executive officer for DeMolay in Illinois. State Master Councilor M. Terry Mechling and State Senior Councilor Kenneth Prillaman opened the program. Those who received active awards are in the front row. Left to right are Bieser, Mechling, Philip J. Plasterer of Marissa, Berthold E. Stover Jr. of Centralia, Donald G. Kelly of Belleville, Thomas G. Germain of Belleville, Steven E. Kraus of Belleville, Rev. Wally M. Shearburn of Alton and Prillaman. Others shown are honorary designates. In the second row, from the left, are: Arlo E. Bane, Leroy; William H. Piper, Mt.

Over 30 college courses in GC

More than 30 college transfer credit classes will be offered during the spring semester by the Granite City Extension Center, in addition to the apprentice classes regularly scheduled here.

Additionally, 23 general studies (non-transferable) courses will be taught at the center, which utilizes the facilities of Granite City High School South.

Among the general studies courses offered will be foodservice sanitation, an eight-week course. Frank Kraus, BAC Granite City coordinator, is reminding all area foodservice operators that new legislation requiring certified foodservice sanitation personnel in each establishment goes into effect July 1, 1978.

Restaurant owners and other foodservice managers should be sure to enroll their personnel this semester to assure their having such certification by the time the law goes into effect, Kraus commented.

Other eight-week classes offered for general interest are genealogy, preparing your income tax (free), custom drapery design and construction, and mastering the metric system.

Intermediate sewing will run for 11 weeks.

Nurse assistant, a six-week class, will begin Feb. 6 but students should enroll in January to be sure of a place in the class.

Real estate transactions is a 12-week class.

ParK ID cards available tonight

For the last time in 1977, the Granite City Park District will issue identification cards from 7 to 9 tonight at the Wilson Park rink.

Those seeking the plasticized ID cards must show proof of residency, such as a utility bill receipt, at the time of issuance.

The cards enable a district resident to participate in park-sponsored activities, including ice skating, at reduced cost.

Use Christmas seals, leaders of drive urge

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Christmas seals are decorative, and their use also means continued support for programs sponsored by the Lewis-Clark Lung Association in its fight against respiratory diseases.

Three young women from Granite City, all students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, are heading Christmas Seal Week in the Quad-Cities and are urging the public to give more support to the Lewis-Clark programs.

Mrs. Stephanie Lathrop, Miss Vicki Butch and Miss Ruth Ann Valencia are members of Alpha Epsilon Chapter, Gamma Sigma Sigma service sorority at SIUE.

association in its 1977 Christmas Seal Week, which starts today and continues through Saturday.

Christmas Seal dollars will be used to support and expand the Lewis-Clark Lung Association's programs of public and professional education and its sponsorship of medical research into lung diseases and in combating air pollution and smoking, the young women said.

Designating this week as Christmas Seal Week, mayors of the four local municipalities issued a proclamation Friday morning. It reads in part: "Respiratory diseases and other hazards to the human lung present a major health challenge.

CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN is launched in the Quad-Cities to help support and expand the Lewis-Clark Lung Association's program of public and professional education and medical research into lung diseases. Heading Christmas Seal Week, today through Saturday, are Granite City members of Alpha Epsilon Chapter, Gamma Sigma Sigma Service Sorority, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, shown with mayors of the four local municipalities. Seated, left to right, are Mrs. Stephanie Lathrop, Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler and Miss Vicki Butch. Back row, from the left, Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, Miss Ruth Ann Valencia, Venice Mayor William "Mike" Ebersold and Mayor Floyd David Moss of Pontoon Beach.

Youths charged

Notified that several young people in a car were creating a disturbance and allegedly drinking at St. Clair Avenue and Maryville Road at 10:45 p.m. Friday, police stopped a vehicle matching the description given of the car in front of Parkview School, 3200 Maryville Road, a few moments later.

Allegedly confiscated from the vehicle were eight full cans of beer, found on the floorboard, and a plastic bag, discovered under the driver's seat, containing what appeared to be 39 cigarettes.

Arrested and charged with being minors in possession of liquor were Von Durrell Justice, 18, of 30 Briarcliff Drive, Alan W. Jakul, 18, of 52 Briarhaven Drive, and Roger A. Wilkinson, 18, of 4940 Lakeview Drive.

Also arrested and booked on the same charge were two 16-year-old youths, a 15-year-old youth and two 14-year-old girls.

All were released on notice to appear for a hearing with exception of Wilkinson, who was released on payment of $35 cash bond.

The chapter is aiding the "Air pollution continues to be a serious problem and there is a rising number of deaths from lung diseases.

"Smoking is injurious to the lungs and heart.

"We urge every citizen to contribute generously to the Christmas seal campaign being conducted by the Lewis-Clark Lung Association, and we proclaim the week of Dec. 5-10 to be Christmas Seal Week in the Quad-Cities."

ARRESTED AT TAVERN
Called to the Long Branch Tavern, 2105 Grand Ave., where a man reportedly was causing a disturbance Friday evening, police arrested Kenneth C. Moylan, 21, of 2033 Madison Ave., and charged him with disorderly conduct. He was released at 1:25 a.m. Saturday on payment of $35 cash bond.

Woman knocked down by truck

Mrs. Dorothy A. Hughes, 2609 E. 24th St., reported at 6 p.m. Friday being struck by a pickup truck and knocked down after she had asked the driver twice to move the vehicle from the vicinity of Tri-City Radio, 3130 Nameoki Road.

Initially, the woman said, she asked the driver to move the truck as he was blocking the parking lot entrance. She then requested he move the pickup from in front of the store.

Mrs. Hughes said the man opened the truck door and backed up the vehicle in a "reckless manner," knocking her to the ground.

She was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 8 p.m. Friday for abrasions to the right elbow and right thumb. She had x-rays taken of the elbow and spine before being released.

Student charged

John W. Amonds, 17, of 1620 Moro Ave., was arrested at 1:05 p.m. Friday at Granite City High School North after allegedly being observed by a school monitor placing objects in a pocket.

A hypodermic syringe and needle and a bag containing what appeared to be cannabis were found, police said.

Amonds was taken to Granite City police headquarters and charged with possession of a hypodermic syringe and possession of cannabis. He was released at 6 p.m. Friday on payment of a $200 cash bond.

Motorist injured near A. O. Smith

An accident on Highway 3, near the entrance to A. O. Smith Corp. at 7 p.m. Saturday, resulted in injuries to the driver of an auto making a left turn into the plant.

The northbound car of Dorothy Gilmore, 19, of 2309 four other vehicles which had halted behind the Gilmore car, witnesses said.

The woman was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital and treated for lacerations to the left hand before being released.

KEEPING YOU POSTED

popular for holiday enter-Kroger store. In addition to some hints to help your festive bird:
There's a choice to suit every Kroger store. In addition to fresh "chill-pack" turkeys — held at a very cold temperature (the ideal temperature for fresh poultry quality until notice a few ice crystals but never been frozen. Allow under 12 lb. Over 12 lb.,
Storage: Fresh Chill-Pack Turkeys may be kept in the refrigerator until ready to cook.
Keep frozen turkeys in the freezer until ready to thaw.
Thawing: Never thaw frozen turkeys at room temperature or under hot water. Thaw in original plastic bag in refrigerator...24 hours for each 8 pounds. Roast thawed turkey within 24 hours. And don't stuff the turkey until you're ready to roast it!
Leftovers: Refrigerate or freeze leftover turkey immediately after dinner. And remember — an extra "planned-over" meal from your turkey stretches your food dollar.

POINSETTIA

You can now purchase a beautiful poinsettia plant at your friendly Kroger Stores. Here are care instructions. Avoid drafts or excessive heat. Water plant thoroughly when soil surface is dry to touch. To prolong blooms, temperature should not exceed 60° at night.

Care after Holidays

When blooms open, cut back plant to 8 inches to grow as a foliage plant. It may be placed out of doors when outside temperature is warm. Avoid 50° F nights during summer. Return plant to room for direct light 6-8 hours daily and 60-70° F night temperature. For reflowering in the winter, avoid artificial light at night after October 1.
